U. S. Set to Oust Subversive Elements

PLAN READY FOR REMOVAL, SAYS OFFICIAL

Congress Prepares Drastic Measure To Halt Defense Work Stoppages.

WOULD END RIGHTS

Knox Declares Elements To Be Dealt With as Foes of the Nation.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON—The government is ready and determined, a high administration official said today, to eliminate from defense industries all persons considered guilty of promoting strikes for subversive instead of legitimate union purposes.

This source said that a plan already had been worked out for dealing with such individuals, but on Capitol Hill bi-partisan proposals were advanced that congress enact drastic penalties to combat any "subversive elements" found responsible for defense production stoppage.

Informed legislative sources reported that a measure might be forthcoming soon to penalize workers who defy the recommendations of the national defense mediation board and refuse to return to work, as President Roosevelt enjoined them in his last fireside chat.

The penalty would be to deprive the recalcitrant striker all of his rights under existing labor statutes—peaceful picketing and collective bargaining—among others.

The disclosure that the government was ready to take action against subversive individuals in labor unions supplemented the statement of Navy Secretary Knox yesterday that such persons would be "proceeded against as enemies of their country."

38 From County Leave Today for Army Induction

A contingent of 38 Richland counties, largest group to leave the county in recent weeks for an army induction station, went to Fort Hayes this morning in a chartered bus to be examined for military training.

Another Richland contingent, Harold Jaycox, joined the group in Columbus to go to Fort Hayes. He was in Columbus and was granted permission to go to the induction station.

Draft board clerks announced here today that 24 of 31 registrants examined yesterday at the Mansfield armory qualified for induction. Three others received tentative approval of physicians.

Except for two or three youths scheduled to leave about June 23, no other group of selectees will go from Richland county until June 28, board clerks said.

Today's group of selectees boasted the Richland county total for June past the 100 mark. By the end of the month it is expected that nearly 150 will have been called from the county for June induction.

Selective service boards had speeded up their operations today to supply the scores of men they anticipate will be called during the summer as more camp facilities are provided.

Father Asks Police to Hunt For 3 Missing Shelby Girls

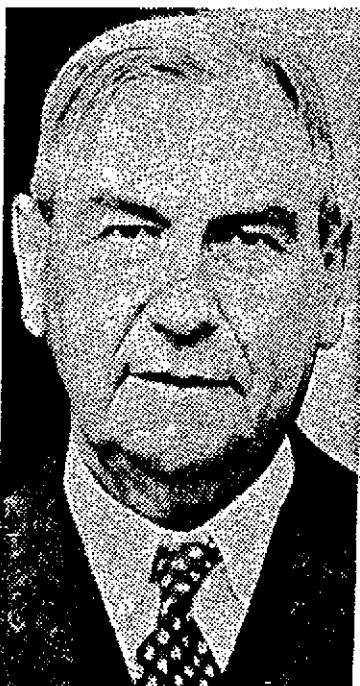

Mansfield police today were seeking three Shelby girls, missing since Monday, who are believed to have joined a troupe of automobile stunt drivers.

Lyda Crane, 37 Oak street, Shelby, told police that his daughters, Lillian, 17, and Betty, 14, and a friend, Betty Kaylor, 15, had been missing since early Monday. He said that he believed they had left Mansfield with the stunt drivers who appeared at the Fairgrounds last Sunday.

Crane said that the girls met the drivers Saturday and that three of the men had "dates"

Roosevelt Picks Successor To Hughes, Appoints Jackson, Byrnes Associates.

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt today nominated Associate Supreme Court Justice Harlan Fiske Stone, a Republican to be the 12th chief justice of the United States succeeding Charles Evans Hughes who retires July 1.

He also nominated Attorney General Robert H. Jackson and Senator James Francis Byrnes, D., S. C., as associate justices of the supreme court. Stone, who became an associate justice on the high tribunal on March 2, 1925, is 68 years old. He was appointed by President Coolidge.

Byrnes, administration strategist in the senate, succeeds Justice James Clark McReynolds, who retired in February. Jackson was nominated to fill the vacancy caused by Stone's promotion.

LANDLORDS HIT

Rent-Gouging in Defense Areas Hit By Authorities.

WASHINGTON—Federal authorities today cautioned "rent-gouging" landlords to reduce rentals to reasonable levels voluntarily or risk legal compulsion.

The office of price administration and civilian supply, disturbed by reports of rental increases ranging from five per cent to "extraordinary instances" of 100 per cent, stepped into the defense housing picture with a program designed to stabilize rents throughout the country.

Karl Borders, OPACS rental expert, said the program was aimed particularly at defense areas where the influx of workers and soldiers' families had been so rapid that private and public construction would not keep up with the need.

FILING LIST GROWS

Bushnell Still Among Possible Candidates At Primaries

James F. Orr, Mansfield typewriter dealer and a newcomer in politics, loomed today as a "dark horse" candidate for the Democratic nomination for mayor as former Sheriff E. P. Long announced he would not seek the nomination.

Election board clerks said Orr obtained petitions this morning, while Democratic party leaders said he was considered the most likely to file for the nomination.

Fred M. Bushnell, former postmaster, also was still in the running today, but it was understood he had not obtained petitions from the board of elections.

John C. O'Donnell, county Democratic executive chairman, said the county organization would not endorse any candidate for mayor preceding the August primary, but he added that either Bushnell or Orr probably would file today. He said he knew of no other possible candidates for the mayoralty nomination.

Seven more candidates for city offices, four Democrats and three Republicans, filed their petitions with the election board today as the last-hour filing rush began. The deadline is Friday night, leaving only one more day to file.

Five present city councilmen filed today while Lester D. Hunter, present Democratic councilman-at-large, entered the race for the nomination in the Fourth ward where two other Democrats already had filed.

The Democratic battle in that ward appeared as the hottest in the primary campaign unless others develop unexpectedly. Hunter will oppose Jacob Kutschall, the present councilman, and Michael Mihalick for the Fourth nomination. Kutschall defeated Hunter two years ago, but Hunter later was named councilman-at-large to fill a vacancy.

George L. Berg filed again for councilman-at-large, leaving the council president post to Howard G. Miller, who, it was said, probably will not have opposition in the primary.

Earl C. Tross, secretary of the Mansfield Police Pension board, today announced his candidacy for city treasurer on the Democratic ticket after learning that Treasurer Glenn A. (Continued on Page 6, Col. 2)

Express Disappointment Over $75,000,000 Shipped In Two Months.

Taft Asserts 'We Should Have Shipped Five Times as Much.'

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON—Aid-to-Britain advocates expressed surprise and disappointment today over President Roosevelt's report that only $75,202,425 of lease-lend equipment had been transferred in the period between March 11, when the program started, and May 31.

Some opponents of administration foreign policy expressed gratification, however, and Senator Clark (D-Ida.) professed happiness that so little of the $7,000,000,000 voted for lease-lend supplies "has been used to buy an interest in a lost cause."

To Senator Wheeler yesterday's report demonstrated there was no need for convulsions.

"We have sent over only $75,000,000 worth of lease-lend goods," he added, "and there is no claim by the president that any of that has been sunk."

Senator Connally (D-Tex.), a sponsor of the British aid legislation, found it "distressing" that more equipment had not been transferred and Senator Byrd (D-Va.) asserted that the amount was "greatly disappointing."

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) advocate of more vigorous steps to aid Britain, said that $75,000,000 worth of war materials "won't stop Hitler and it won't keep us out of war."

Another supporter of the British aid program, Senator Bridges (R-N.H.), remarked that $75,000,000 "is a mighty negligible amount. It is no wonder the British have had to fall back."

From Senator Taft (R-Ohio), who opposed the original aid-to-Britain legislation, came a statement that "we should have shipped five times as much."

Glasgow Provost Says Nazi's Sore at Being Prisoner.

LONDON—Hess, Rudolf, the No. 3 Nazi who flew to Scotland from Germany and then parachuted to earth, is vastly annoyed because he is held as a war prisoner.

That was the word left with the British people today by Sir Patrick Dollan, Lord Provost of Glasgow, who declared in a speech that Hess came to Britain as an "unrepentant Nazi."

Sir Patrick declared Hess believed he could remain in Scotland two days, discuss his peace proposals with a certain group, and then be given gasoline and maps for a return flight to Germany. "That's the genuine truth," Sir Patrick said. "I understand Hess is annoyed at being kept a prisoner, although he is perhaps safer here than in Germany."

RECIFE, Brazil—United States representatives considered the stories of eleven survivors of the 5,000-ton American freighter Robin Moor today to formulate a report as to whether her sinking in the South Atlantic May 21 was the deed of a German submarine.

All apparently in good health, the survivors were questioned in careful seclusion for four and a half hours by U. S. Consul Walter J. Linthicum and Capt. W. A. Hodgman of the U. S. navy, after their arrival here last night aboard the Brazilian rescue ship Ozorio. Then they were taken in

New Electric Rates Already In Effect for Mansfielders

Reduced rates were in effect for hundreds of Mansfield consumers today despite the fact that the new rate schedule offered by the Ohio Public Service company was not to have become effective until July 1.

Joy A. Herbert, vice president and general manager, said that although the recently approved rate contract with the city provides that the rates should take effect July 1, the company is giving reductions on electricity consumed this month.

The lower rates will apply on bills sent consumers after July 1. July bills are for current consumption during the preceding month, and those sent after July 1 will be based on meter readings taken since June 20, according to Herbert.

All Mansfield electric consumers having their meters read after June 20 will be given the benefit of the reduced schedule for the preceding 30 days. Those having their meters read on June 20 will pay for their service from May 20 on the lower rate.

French Planes Fight Tanks at Edge of City

Vichy Troops Reported Holding Allies At Bay Near Kisswe, as British, Free French Make General Advance In Syria.

BULLETIN
CAIRO—(INS)—British military leaders today decided to strive for peaceful occupation of Damascus. British authorities in Cairo said the advance on Damascus is continuing without haste, as the goal is occupation without bloodshed.

(By Associated Press)
A violent battle between British tanks and French warplanes was reported raging today on the outskirts of Damascus, capital of Syria, with Vichy French troops still holding the Allies at bay east of Kisswe, 10 miles away.

Dispatches from the capital said French air units, flown from North Africa, were effectively supporting the defense troops.

German planes aided the French in yesterday's action, it was said, but there was no indication that they were engaged in the fighting today.

Spurred by a message from old Marshal Petain, Vichy French forces were reported putting up fierce contention on all fronts in the 5-day-old conflict.

British Middle East headquarters gave this description of the battle: "Allied forces have made further important progress in all sectors. Vichy troops are offering resistance in certain areas, obliging us to prevent obstruction to our advance. When these troops have been overrun, many of them have expressed sympathy with the Allied objective of preserving Syria from German penetration."

The French acknowledged "severe losses," however, against numerically superior forces, and conceded that Allied troops striking from Palestine along the Mediterranean coast were advancing toward Beirut, the Lebanon capital.

French military dispatches from the battlefield said Australian forces had fought their way almost to the outskirts of Sidon, within 25 miles of Beirut.

"I follow with emotion the heavy combats you are waging," Petain told the defenders of France's Middle East mandates.

"France is proud of you... be certain that you are not fighting in vain."

Thus the 85-year-old French chief of state, World War "hero of Verdun," encouraged the men of Vichy against Gen. Charles De Gaulle's Free Frenchmen.

Petain has insisted that France must cooperate with Germany to survive.

French dispatches described the fighting in the Sidon sector as growing in fury, with heavy losses on both sides. Offshore, the big guns of the British fleet—including a battleship—laid down a fiery barrage on the French defense positions.

Altogether, six British and Free French columns were reported knifing into Syria and Lebanon, moving steadily nearer their objectives.

In the north, dispatches from Turkey said, one column captured the important desert base of Deir-ez-Zor and another reached Ras el Kain, 100 miles to the north. These columns, advancing from Iraq, were reported to be less than (Continued on Page 6, Col. 4)

POISED: Hitler Masses Vast Army on Borders of Russia

(By United Press)
LONDON—Adolf Hitler has massed troops along the Russian border from the Baltic to the Black Sea and is in position to strike at any time, according to reports reaching London today.

Weight was given to the reports by responsible London quarters, which in the past have dismissed similar reports as of no significance.

But only the Germans knew what such a concentration of from 80 to 100 divisions of troops—between 1,200,000 and 1,500,000 men—really meant.

There were reports that Hitler was putting extraordinary pressure on Russia for new concessions, economic, political or military; that he intended to march into the Ukraine to seize the ripening wheat fields; that he intended to march through the Caucasus, with or without Russian consent to gain control of the oil fields there and to strike at the British rear in the Middle East.

There were even suggestions that by confronting Russia with a formidable army, and spreading the belief that he intended to attack, Hitler hoped to catch Britain napping and try to invade it.

Developments coinciding with the reports of German troop concentrations included: The arrival in London by airplane of Sir Stafford Cripps, British ambassador to Russia, to consult the government.

Assurances which Ivan Maisky, Russian ambassador here, is said in reliable quarters to have given (Continued on Page 6, Col. 5)

PRICE: Nazis Admit 5,800 Casualties In Crete Battle

(By Associated Press)
BERLIN—The German army and air force seizure of Crete on Adolf Hitler's personal orders cost 5,893 officers and men in dead, wounded and missing, the high command announced today, and proved that "nothing is impossible to the German soldier."

The announcement also claimed that between Jan. 1 and May 30 thirty Allied warships were sunk in the Mediterranean and that "a great number of other units including several battleships and plane carriers" were damaged.

In the same five-month period, according to this announcement, 103 merchant ships, totaling more than 520,000 tons were sunk in the Mediterranean.

The Nazi casualties listed for the Crete campaign were those of the German army and air force. The Germans reported 592 Allied planes destroyed in the battle of Crete—417 ground, in the first stages of the battle, 167 in air fights and eight by anti-aircraft fire.

As for their own losses, the Germans acknowledged only 236. Also reviewing the Balkan campaign—the conquest of Yugoslavia

USO CAMPAIGN WORKERS WILL HEAR SPEAKER

Ashland School Head to Give Talk Tomorrow at Meeting of Campaign Members.

Richland County chapter of the United Service Organizations will hear Julius Bohn, superintendent of the Ashland public schools, speak tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, preparatory to launching a drive for $6,500 to finance wholesome recreation in army and navy areas, as a part of the nation-wide quota of $10,765,000.

The Mansfield and Richland county drive, exclusive of Shelby, which has its own quota of $1,000, opens Monday when approximately 300 workers will canvass city and county in a house-to-house solicitation.

One of the seven Ohioans in Washington for the April conference when plans for the United Service Organization were formulated, Bohn will tell the county chapter how the organization was brought about and how it hopes to function during the present national emergency.

The money to be raised during the national campaign is estimated to be sufficient to maintain wholesome recreational centers to be built by the government in 339 defense training areas for one year.

Attorney Marshall Moore will give the instruction to campaign workers, George H. Smith, general chairman, announced. The meeting is open to every one and it is expected that at least 100 campaign workers will attend.

Co-operating in the national movement are six organizations that individually carried on their own work during the First World War. They are the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., National Catholic Community Service, Salvation Army, Jewish Welfare board and National Travelers Aid association.

BLAME YOUR LIVER IF—

If your liver doesn't secrete 20 to 30 ounces of bile every day into your intestines—constipation with its headaches, mental dullness and that "half-alive" feeling often result. So you see how important it is to keep bile flowing freely! And what finer aid could one desire than Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, used so successfully for years by Dr. F. M. Edwards for treating his patients for constipation and sluggish liver bile. Olive Tablets are unsurpassed in effectiveness because they stimulate liver bile to help digest fatty foods, they tone up muscular intestinal action, at the same time help elimination. Being purely vegetable, Olive Tablets are wonderful! Test their supreme goodness TONIGHT! 15¢, 30¢, 60¢. All drugstores.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, JUNE 12, 1941

"The British are not hurt," says a Canadian, "because they do not weep." They can take it.

The Army Ends a Strike

IT ISN'T necessary to put a microscope on the whole of the United States labor problem to find out what's wrong nor to discover the remedy. It's not necessary to look any further than the news stories describing what happened at Inglewood, Calif., in the North American Aviation corporation strike.

First salient fact was that the national organization of CIO disclaimed the strike and blamed local agitators and communists.

Take that charge for what you will, after the army moved into the struck plant Monday it took only three days for every worker and every member of the office personnel to be back on the job.

Those men weren't forced to go back. They were just PERMITTED to do so. The army offered them protection against the forces which were keeping them from doing the jobs they wanted to do.

There's a lesson which will apply pretty well all over the country.

It must give heart to workers who are being bull-dozed by racketeers who have their own personal interests rather than the real interests of organized labor at heart. And it must give pause to the racketeers who have thought they could prey on a national emergency to further their own ends, whether greed or subversion.

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox pointed directly to this subversion in his talk yesterday to aviation industry representatives at Washington.

He declared a small minority has been using labor union activity to hamper national defense and that what had happened in Inglewood represented no challenge to collective bargaining but does have a determinative challenge to those who use collective bargaining and union activity as a cloak to attack American freedom and liberty.

"From here on," he said, "the government of the United States will proceed against those subversive elements in our communities as they should be proceeded against — as enemies of the country."

Not a Record to Brag About

ALL-OUT aid to Britain?

We've been hearing a lot about it ever since congress started considering the seven-billion dollar lease-lend bill. And now that congress has had its first report on activity under the measure from President Roosevelt, there's a controversy raging among Washington legislators over the amount of supplies which Britain has received.

Getting down to plain talk there doesn't seem to be much to argue about.

The president has repeatedly pledged the nation to all-out aid. Congress backed him up by passage of the lease-lend bill. And how much has the United States sent out in the two months the bill has been operative?—$75,000,000 worth, or just enough to finance a day and a half of war at the present cost of $50,000,000 per day.

That's hardly all-out aid unless we've been over-estimating ourselves considerably.

Saving Rubber Tires

WAR ECONOMY requires economy in the civilian use of rubber, and the biggest use of rubber is in automobile tires.

It is not mileage alone that determines the life of a tire, says Thomas P. Henry of Detroit, president of the American Automobile Association. A good driver may make a set of tires last two or three times as long as an awkward or reckless driver. He tells of tests made recently with the same kind of cars carrying the same kind of tires, in which incredible differences of tire-life were shown.

Five drivers wore out their tires between 7,500 and 9,400 miles and seven between 11,900 and 13,700 miles. Seven others got 14,300 to 15,800 miles out of them. Another group got 16,100 to 18,700 miles and five drivers made their tires last 20,700 to 27,600 miles. Here is a difference of 20,000 miles of use between the drivers who were hardest on their tires and those who were easiest.

It is a matter of care in starting and stopping, keeping the proper amount of air in the tires, having the wheels in proper alignment, taking curves easily, driving at moderate speed, avoiding sudden speeding up or slowing down, and not letting the tires get too hot in warm weather.

Let's Look Around

Early Selection of Capital City

—By G. J. KOCHENDERFER

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—Little known in the east, and chosen as the state capital long before Southern California had started on the way to present population and prestige, Sacramento's location far to the north of center accounts for an unending but probably futile effort to divide California into a north and south state.

When it is considered that California has a coast line of approximately one thousand miles and is exceeded only by Texas in size, it can be understood that there is plenty of material here for two or three ordinary sized states.

Sacramento enjoyed a healthy, rather than an abnormal growth in the past ten years and has now passed the 100,000 mark, being the largest interior city in the state.

The state capital, started in the beginning year of the Civil war and completed eight years later, is a notable example of fine proportions of building and dome, and the stately and mural paintings on the main floor and rotunda tell the story of early California in an impressive way.

The park surrounding the capital reflects California's pride in horticulture and floriculture, with plantings of more than a thousand varieties of trees, shrubs and plants.

Aside from its activities as the capital city, Sacramento is centered in a fine agricultural district and it is confidently asserted that 95 per cent of all the asparagus canned in the United States is raised in this area.

It was here also, in January 1848, that discovery of gold brought on the great gold rush of the next year—and the wild times that followed.

THERE is danger, in the emphasis placed on San Francisco, that the thriving city of Oakland just across the bay—may be overlooked, and that wouldn't be fair, as Oakland is the third largest city in California, has hit above the 300,000 mark in population after a growth of 18,000 in the past decade, and is developing into an even more important port, shipbuilding center and industrial city. Oakland, as you may recall, has been the home city, for the past 18 years, of Louis D. Barr, former Mansfield attorney, and his family. He heads the Barr Method of Planning and Financing, with special attention to financing the construction of hotels, hospitals, and other community projects, in which work he has been successfully engaged since leaving Mansfield in 1919. His home is at 5663 Broadway but his work requires much travel.

BERKELEY, which adjoins Oakland to the north, is best known as the location of the original University of California, with around 25,000 students but which is frequently confused (during the football season) with the University of Southern California and U. C. L. A., both of which are at Los Angeles.

Berkeley's population has had slow growth to its present 85,500 and it is quite well satisfied to be regarded as a wealthy residential city, specializing in education and culture.

LUNCHEON at one of the Clinton restaurants in San Francisco the other day brought to light an interesting practice in these eating places. It appears that Clifton Clinton, something of an idealist, started a small restaurant in San Francisco about 25 years ago. He fed all who came, regardless of ability to pay. He has continued the practice and now has a number of fine restaurants in "SF" and "LA." You eat what you desire and if you have no money you tell the cashier and your check is cancelled. Free meals are estimated to run around $10 a day at each restaurant—but they are crowded with paying customers—so his idea may be a good one after all.

New Pipeline Need Imperative

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — Construction of oil pipe lines from the Gulf region to the Atlantic seaboard is not economically sound; it is merely because of war conditions that it is being considered.

The cost of transporting oil by pipe lines is not, as is generally believed by most people, cheaper than transporting oil by water, though it is considerably cheaper than moving it by rail.

Figures compiled by the oil industry show that the cost of moving oil by water is about one mill per ton mile. The cost of moving it by pipe line, if the pipe line is operated at capacity all the time, is about 2 mills per ton mile, twice as much as by water. But if the pipe line is operated at only 80 per cent of capacity this cost advances to three mills per ton mile, or three times as much as moving the same oil by water.

It is when the contrast is made with railroad transportation that the pipe line shows up to advantage. For the cost by rail is around 15 to 16 mills per ton mile.

"What a magnificent argument for the St. Lawrence Seaway!" the casual observer might comment.

That is very much in line with the old story of the housewife who complained to the butcher who charged 50 cents a pound for steak that the price of another butcher down the street was only 40 cents.

"Why don't you buy from him then?" demanded the higher priced butcher.

"He hasn't any more steak," replied the housewife.

"If I didn't have any I could afford to fix the price at 10 cents," said the butcher.

If the oil producers could get plenty of ships, or rather if the government were not taking all their ships away from them, they would not think about the pipe line.

Also, if the St. Lawrence seaway were in operation today, instead of being from 4 to 8 years, according to which experts you believe, in the future, it would be folly to operate ocean going ships on it.

The whole point is that what is concerning the whole world is a scarcity of ships. The Germans are concerned with sinking every ship possible that might carry supplies to the British, the British are concerned with getting enough ships to keep themselves supplied despite the terrific toll of sinkings.

As long as that situation lasts, and it may well last as long as the war lasts, it would be absurd to waste the time of an ocean going ship traversing the thousand to two thousand miles of St. Lawrence river and waterway and lakes. The same ship could make at least 50 per cent more round trips in a given period by having Shame on You!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

I'M FOR the Unions. I know the necessity—and abuse—which lay behind them. And I'm for the fine vision which lies ahead of them. I'll respect and work for that vision always, with all I have. But I think the time has come for a little plain speaking. However, before we go into that, let's look back.

Mother and Dad were talking in the old shabby kitchen. They were talking strangely, with an undertone. We kids had never heard before. Tinkling with ten-year-old curiosity, I edged in, felt Dad's big, calloused hand rumpling my curly hair.

"Are you ready to do your part, lassie?" he said, and a sadness lay behind his smile.

Do my part? I stared in bewilderment. Then patiently he explained what it meant to the five of us, with Mother leaning against the sink, her brave eyes staring far beyond the battered pots and her own patched apron.

The Big Railroad Strike, he said, was on. Men were going to walk out on their jobs. Hundreds of them would be hungry. We must give up part of our own food that they might be fed.

Strange words they were to us youngsters who'd never heard of Unionism or Strikes . . . but the deep anger in Dad's own voice quickened our hearts. Would he be willing to help? Do without butter and jam? Give up some of our blankets? Of course we would! It was easy to promise, in the excitement of that strangely quiet hour.

Only in the weeks ahead, watching the seemingly endless stream of hollow-eyed men gulping their bowls of soup, listening to voices whispering as if in a prayer, did I know that a door had been opened in my heart which would never again close . . . a door opening wide to human need and human pride and its right to a decent deal.

That was back in the '90's, in Benicia, California, when the world was waking to union demands. This is written in 1941, with strikes blocking defense plants in almost every state in this nation. And I'm thinking of the long way the unions have come in that time . . . and the shameful use they are making today of the power and place they've gained.

I repeat: I'm still for unions. I'm still "all out" for any man who is being robbed or exploit-her American terminal at Halifax.

It is not a question of saving pennies in transportation cost, it is a question of whether enough supplies can be transported to Britain to keep the Nazis from winning the war.

Expert opinion is that the Nazis cannot win if Britain can be supplied with war materials and food from America, but that Britain will certainly go down if that line of supplies fails.

Perhaps the best answer is that the British are not using Montreal as their point for loading ships carrying Canadian products to Britain. They use a point a great many hundred miles to the east of Montreal, and therefore closer to Britain, although the St. Lawrence is magnificently wide and deep all the way up to Montreal.

IN MARINELAND, where Mr. Bacon presides, fish are the backbone of the community. I've seen marine bases built by Cornelius V. Whitney, the wonders of the sea are trapped and held for show and for scientific observation. In one vast tank alone shark mangle with porpoise. . . . Observers watch them hourly. . . . The shark range up to 500 pounds. . . . But outside of a few passes or maybe a few snarls, the shark haven't attacked the porpoises.

There are five divers who go in to the tank daily to scrape and clean it. They walk around within arms' reach of these "man-eating" shark. . . . They feed them, photograph, study, and care for them.

Most of these fish are caught in the southern seas off Florida in specially rigged craft. . . . A fish is never "played." . . . He is "horsed" aboard, placed in special tanks, and hurried to the aquarium. This is for large and small fish of all varieties. In all, there are in excess of 50,000 fish in the Marineland tanks, many of which require varying temperatures in their water, and varying diets.

Manhattan's oldest tree is an ancient gnarled tulip tree, round of girth, tall of stature. . . . It is at that point where the Spuyten Dayvil empties into the Hudson and once it was a meeting place for Indians.

It always astonishes me to realize that Frederick Lonsdale has written only one drama that was a failure. . . . In all, he has coined more than 20 plays.

New Slash In Car Production Seen as Reply to Price Rise

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—When the auto makers (with the exception of General Motors) thumbed their noses at Price Administrator Leon Henderson and boosted prices, they fanned up more trouble for themselves than they ever imagined. Possibly they started what Britain long ago instituted—the curtailment of auto production.

For war department chiefs immediately advised the White House that if auto moguls were unwilling to cooperate with the government in the control of prices, then it was time the government stepped in to curtail production, which should have been done long ago.

Army and Navy heads long have been sour about the fact that the OEM ordered only a 20 per cent reduction of auto output. They wanted a reduction of at least 50 per cent.

Recent admissions that a serious steel shortage is in the offing have added point to the demand. Next to defense, the auto industry is the chief consumer of steel; also of alloys, which are of supreme importance in making tanks, planes and other arms.

A confidential army memorandum to the president reported nearly 200 specific instances in which companies could not promise to deliver urgent defense orders in less than eight to fifteen months, because of heavy auto industry commitments.

This memorandum flatly asserted that the only way to obtain the huge amounts of steel required for pipeline, freight car and ship construction is to cut down the amount going into automobiles. Otherwise, it was declared impossible to meet the production schedules set by the president.

Note—Ambassador Winant expressed astonishment to Roosevelt at the high level of production the auto industry is being allowed to maintain. He stated that Britain long ago geared private auto output to defense needs.

Steel Priorities

Proposed solution of this bottleneck is mandatory steel priorities, now possible under the newly enacted priorities act. The auto industry would get only a proportional share of the metal left over after allocations had been made for all defense needs.

Defense orders would not have to wait their turn. Instead, steel output would be apportioned arbitrarily on the basis of defense requirements first; the rest divided among consumer industries. Incidentally, this last allocation would be in the hands of Henderson, no lover of the auto makers.

Under such controls it is possible that auto output would be slashed by as much as 75 per cent. There are some defense chiefs who contend that if a cut of this size had been made three months ago, there would be no steel shortage now.

Naval officers are casting a covetous eye at Vincent Astor's luxury yacht, the Nourmahal, upon which Roosevelt used to take fishing cruises. They would add it to the Atlantic fleet, replacing the battleship Wyoming, which is to become an airplane carrier. . . . The White House is slated over a test pool showing Representative Lyndon Johnson, New Deal candidate in the Texas special senate election, leading the field by a decisive margin. He led Governor "Pass the biscuits" O'Daniel by 2 to 1, even in the rural districts where O'Daniel is strongest, with Representative Martin Dies trailing a poor fourth.

French Ships In U. S. It is not supposed to be known, but the state department recently OK'd a proposal from the Vichy government to send several French ships now in American waters back to Africa carrying U. S. supplies to the French.

The state department figured that if the ships were sent, it might win over General Weyand and secure aid for the British. The British also OK'd the deal, providing the French sent an equal number of bottoms back to the U. S. A.

However, the maritime commission put its foot down. It absolutely refused to permit French ships to leave American waters. They are still here.

The maritime commission is made up of sailors and business men, but perhaps they had watched state department diplomacy with Vichy. Perhaps they remembered Col. Bill Donovan's useless trip to Don General Weyand, the shiploads of food sent to Vichy, the fact that French military supplies at Syria were sent to help the Germans against the British in Iraq.

Note—Even some state department officials now admit that the worst mistake the United States made was ever to recognize the Vichy government of Marshal Petain.

Merry-Go-Round

Kellogg vigorously opposed Roosevelt's many public power projects, but more recently has been forced to admit that Roosevelt didn't build enough of them. . . . Social tongues are wagging because Cohen was invited to dinner the other day without his Brain Trust partner, Tom Corcoran.

Presidential Kiss

The nation will remember the president's last fireside chat for its historic proclamation of "unlimited emergency," but brunet Ann Gillis, Columbia Broadcasting's special events expert, will remember it for a far different reason.

Just before the president went on the air someone told him Ann was to be married. He summoned the young lady from a labyrinth of radio apparatus being set up to carry his address all over the world.

"Ann," said the president gravely, "is it true that you are planning to take the matrimonial leap?"

"Yes, Mr. President, that is correct."

"Ann, bend down here."

And the president kissed Miss Gillis with a resounding smack.

A Farmer's Diary

—By CALVIN A. RYERS

AS I came to the base of a hill along a narrow rutty road, I saw two day-bay horses tied to the endgate of a wagon drawn by another team. The grizzled old driver was a man I knew and he was urging his team as rapidly as possible with a leather whip so as to make the steep grade more easily. The two old horses at the rear pulled hard upon their heavy halter straps. I shifted to low and slowly followed this wretched procession.

Where the road widened and flattened out, the old man drew over to one side and waited for me to pass. I came up, even and stopped.

"You seem to be trying to get somewhere in an awful hurry," I said. "Don't you think you'd better take the hills in low?"

"I'd oughta be goin' the other way, I reckon," he rejoined, "these old critters might roll easier down hill than up."

I went over to look at the two animals he was leading. They wobbled on sore and shoeless feet. Their ribs were plain and one of them had glassy white cataracts on the eyes. I rubbed the soft nose of the other and pushed back the pendulous upper lip to see the teeth. Those in front were long and yellow—too long. They seemed to keep the jaw teeth from getting together.

"How old is he?" I asked.

The old farmer spat and twisted his tobacco stained mustache. "That 'n' 36. My wife and me went coultin' behind that horse. He was a high stepper then—just a colt. Many's the time he's brought me home at daylight and I woke up. My woman always set great store by him."

"She's away just now—takin' care of our daughter and her new baby. She won't be home all this week. This old horse came all this in his stall last winter and I thought I'd oughta shoot him but she wouldn't let me. He's got up

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 10 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

COLLEGES TRAIN AIR ENGINEERS

BALTIMORE — (AP) — Two Maryland universities have instituted new courses to supply more aeronautical engineers quickly and to train other aircraft specialists. The University of Maryland is turning mechanical, civil and other classes of engineers into aeronautical engineers advanced training for increased responsibilities.

At Johns Hopkins University qualified engineers are receiving intensive instruction in highly specialized subjects, such as electricity as applied to aircraft, plastics, fluid mechanics and cabin supercharging, heating and ventilating. Others are being trained in factory management and time and motion studies to create supply of production technicians.

NEW NATURAL MEDICINE, "BEE BEE'S" GAVE UNBELIEVABLE RELIEF

New Scientific Medicine Known As "BEE BEE'S" Gave Amazingly Quick Relief After Suffering Daily From Severe Cramps In Legs And Arms, And Sore, Stiff Hands and Feet.

"It is a real pleasure for me to say a good word for your wonderful Bee Bee's, because I've been troubled with my kidneys for a long time," said Mr. Charles Webster, 422 West High Street, Piqua, Ohio, who is 73 years of age.

"Cramps would come in my legs four to six times at night, then I would have to get up and put my weight on my feet and stir around to get the leaders in my legs straightened out before I could rest. In the daytime if I stood up and turned my foot quickly I would suffer with severe cramps in my foot for several hours. Also I was bothered with cramps in the calves of my legs and were so severe that I would have to cry. My hands would cramp so bad that when I was reading a newspaper I would have to lay down the paper. If I bent over and straightened up my back would be filled with sharp pains. After taking a few bottles of Bee Bee's I was relieved from the above ailments. I would recommend Bee Bee's as a truly wonderful medicine to anyone."

HERE'S HOW YOU CAN SAVE UP TO 10% OF YOUR GASOLINE!

Having your spark plugs cleaned helps you USE LESS GAS!

Yes, dirty or worn spark plugs really rob you of gasoline money—up to 10% of all the gas you buy, according to engineering experts.

Having your plugs cleaned regularly is one way to get good mileage from your car. And using long-mileage SOHIO X-70 gasoline is another! For best results, try both.

P.S. Any SOHIO station will be glad to clean your plugs—also your air filter, another gasoline waster when dirty.

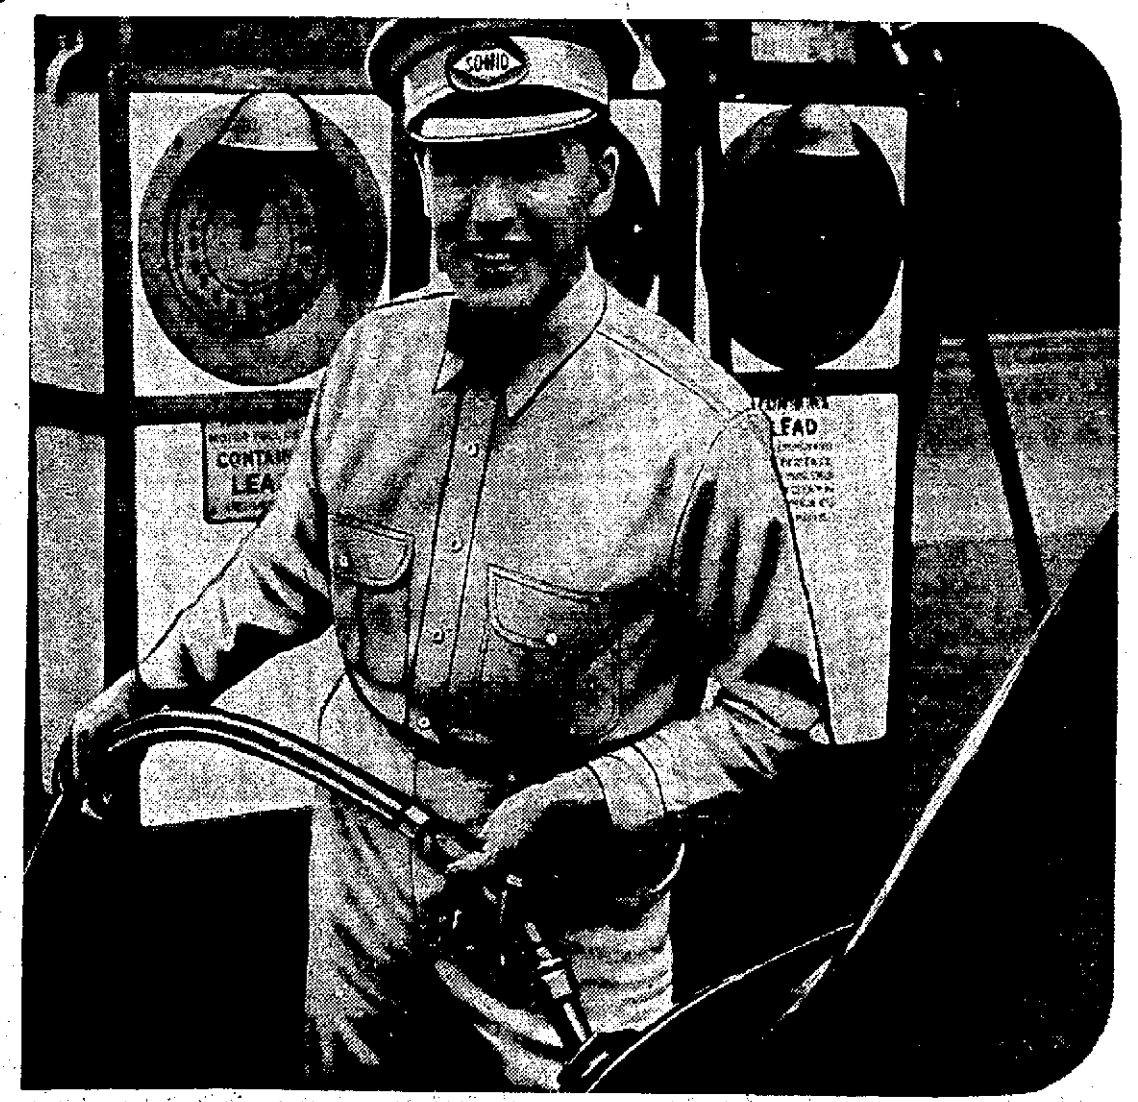

—and always use Ohio's favorite long-mileage gasoline!

WHY X-70 IS A LONG-MILEAGE GAS:

- 1 24 improvements since 1935 keep X-70 Ohio's leading economy gasoline.
- 2 285,000 tests a year by Standard Oil engineers, constantly maintain X-70's leadership.
- 3 Mileage-minded Ohio car owners buy more long-mileage X-70 than the next three brands combined!

U. S. READY TO OUST ALL UNION 'SUBVERSIVES'

Official Says Administration
Has Plan as Congress
Readies New Law.

Over the North American Aviation plant, Knox said the government had not challenged union activity or collective bargaining "but does have a determined challenge to those who use those things as a cloak to attract American freedom and liberty."

The high official who discussed the government's intentions today indicated that the results in the North American case had been satisfactory thus far. The administration's attitude, he said, would be one of watchful waiting so that a full appraisal of the situation could be made before resorting to drastic action.

Where subversive strike promotion is established, this source asserted, all the government has to do is to request the plant management to discharge the undesirable individual.

Murray Hits Plan To Curb Stoppages

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Philip Murray, president of the CIO, today sharply denounced pending congressional proposals to curb stoppage in defense industries, and upheld the continued right of workers to strike under present circumstances.

"These bills," he asserted, "are vicious and have but a single intent—to destroy organized labor. They must be fought and defeated."

The CIO chief also roundly condemned use of the army in labor disputes, administration of the selective service act on a virtual "work or fight" basis, and any action by the defense mediation board "to impose compulsory arbitration."

In a formal statement addressed to all CIO units throughout the country, Murray called on every union member to oppose these things.

"The CIO and its affiliated organizations," he declared, "are dedicated to a single objective—to obtain a better life for the working men and women of this nation through increased wages and improved working conditions. The CIO unions must and shall continue to work for the fulfillment of this objective."

Full Shift Returns To Aluminum Plant

CLEVELAND — (AP) — A full shift of day workers returned to production today on Aluminum Company of America's $60,000,000 defense orders here as CIO Die Casting Workers ended a strike which began Monday.

A company spokesman said "everything is running very smoothly and we expect to be back on full production before the day is over."

Workers began filing into the five ALCOA plants at midnight and various units gradually were put back into production of aluminum and magnesium parts for airplanes and airplane engine makers.

The first major effect of the resumption will be to start the flow of aluminum products once again toward the Allison engineering division of General Motors in Indianapolis, where 800 employees were laid off temporarily for lack of shipments from ALCOA. The Allison plant makes warplane motors for both the United States and Great Britain.

Plane Plant Work Returns to Peak

INGLEWOOD, Cal. — (AP) — North American Aviation company warplane production, paralyzed a week ago by a strike, was soaring back to its peak today, after four days of absolute military control.

The last vestige of the United Automobile Workers' (CIO) resistance crumbled yesterday, and Lieut. Col. Charles E. Branshaw, in charge of operations, announced that all of the plant's 12,000 employees had returned unconditionally to their jobs.

Seven planes were completed yesterday, and Colonel Branshaw expected capacity production—10 medium bombers, pursuit ships and trainers a day—to be reached by tomorrow.

One sour note was sounded when Norris J. Nelson, Los Angeles city councilman said he had learned on "good authority" that gasoline had been found in fire extinguishers at the plant.

Mayor Fletcher Brown of Los Angeles said "it seemed" such was the case, but Colonel Branshaw said, "That's all news to me."

Colonel Branshaw, in a statement, urged workers to their utmost effort.

4,600 Return to Jobs At Detroit Plant

DETROIT — (AP) — Production on $25,000,000 worth of defense orders for vital airplane parts resumed today as 4,600 employees returned to work in six plants of the Bohn Aluminum and Brass company after the UAW-CIO and the management approved a truce ending a two-day strike.

The company agreed to "make retroactive to June 9" whatever settlement recommendations are made by the national defense mediation board and which prove acceptable to the management.

The agreement was reached after the mediation board telegraphed a second appeal to both sides for an immediate end to the strike.

The veteran Republican Councilman C. N. Schultz, Second ward, and George Kyle, Third ward, filed today for the same posts they now hold. Petitions also were filed by Roy Vaughn, seeking the Republican nomination for one of the three councilman-at-large posts, and Arthur L. Croak, Democrat, candidate for re-election to council in the Sixth ward.

Stanley L. Wilburn filed as Croak's opposition in the Sixth ward.

Three more candidates for Shelby offices, including Mayor W. R. Morris, had filed today with the election board. Petitions for nomination for council posts in Shelby were filed by David Kinsell, Fourth ward, and Wilbur Workman, councilman-at-large.

articles of the bill and authorized the local directors to investigate the matter and to put the lower rates into effect if advisable. Herbert said that the local directors had studied the ordinance and formally accepted it.

The Ohio Public Service directors authorized Herbert to accept the contract ordinance after studying "the probable increased taxes, increased cost of fuel, labor and commodities that will prevail during the term of the ordinance, as well as the improved relations with our customers that should result from the rate reduction, and also the increased sale of electrical energy normally to be expected from establishing this decreased rate."

All customers of the company are at present enjoying the lower rate, according to the company. Power used now will be read later in the month and will be billed after July 1, thereby being charged according to the new rate.

TRIAL TO OPEN

Ashlander's Suit Involving Oil
Estate on Docket.

ASHLAND — A suit by John C. Myers of Ashland for possession of a trust estate of Paul B. Grosscup, Charleston gas and oil well producer, will open tomorrow with a hearing in federal district court at Charleston, W. Va.

The suit charges S. B. Avis, Charleston attorney, with mismanagement of the estate and asks that Avis be ordered to turn over all property, assets and accounts. It also requests the appointment of a receiver.

Myers alleges in his bill of complaint that prior to 1933 he lent $75,000 to Grosscup and that Avis was designated as trustee to represent Myers' interests when other creditors of Grosscup threatened to sue.

Avis became president of Grosscup's Acme Oil and Gas company in 1935, the complaint charges, assuming full responsibility for the management of its affairs.

Johns Park All Set for Berry Festival Friday

Strawberries will come into their own with a queen and everything at the annual Johns park strawberry festival tomorrow at 6 p. m.

Mary Jane Edwards will be the reigning lady at the affair which will continue through the evening with entertainment, dancing, and even a softball game.

Crowning of the queen at the festival will highlight the program. The coronation will take place at 7:30 p. m. Doris Radovich, last year's queen, and Glenna Homburger will be the attendants.

Mayor W. J. Locke will present the crown to the new queen. Preceding the coronation will be a return contest between the Mansfield and Ashland Provisional softball teams, scheduled for 6 p. m.

Smart's accordion band will furnish music for the dancers later in the evening.

A program of entertainment has been planned. Harry Bowman, president of the Johns park group, has named committees and arrangements for the annual affair are almost completed.

Members of the committee in charge of the program are Ed Wyllie, George Thomas, C. E. Beal, Ed Craig, Sam Berger, Robert Stevenson, and William Truster.

STONE NAMED CHIEF JUSTICE

the senate, where confirmation was expected to be little more than a formality.

Stone's elevation to the chief justiceship marked the second time in history that an associate justice on the supreme court has been elevated directly to the high court post.

Mr. Roosevelt sent the senate no nomination for Jackson's successor as attorney general, but it generally was believed that Solicitor General Francis Biddle would be named to this key administrative position.

In sending the nominations to the senate, Mr. Roosevelt became the first president since George Washington to have nominated seven justices to the nine-man tribunal.

The New Deal is now so solidly entrenched on the court that its influence there will be established for many years to come. Opportunity to name seven justices to the court has given Mr. Roosevelt the victory that he sought—and failed to win—with his supreme court reorganization bill of 1937.

BRIDGES TRIAL TO END TODAY

Last Sessions of Deportation
Hearing Scheduled.

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — The Harry Bridges deportation hearing was to end today after a session of explosive testimony airing the Australian-born CIO leader's part in the North American Aircraft strike at Los Angeles.

The evidence regarding the aircraft strike was introduced by the government to show that Bridges has followed Communist policies in his coast labor tactics, in defiance of his national CIO superiors.

Testimony of a few additional witnesses was to go into the record today before the evidence is taken under submission by Judge Charles B. Sears, trial examiner.

BATTLE RAGES ON OUTSKIRTS OF DAMASCUS

175 miles from Aleppo, their apparent ultimate objective.

In the south, three columns aiming at capture of the Syrian and Lebanese capitals—Damascus and Beirut—apparently were meeting considerable French resistance.

There was little news of the other column, said to be spearheading into central Syria from Iraq toward Palmyra.

Breaking a lull in the western air war, German night raiders pounded the British Isles in the heaviest attacks in weeks and scattered thousands of propaganda leaflets over the English countryside declaring England faces starvation "this year or the beginning of next."

Nazi warplanes were reported over London, the Midlands, the northwest and the north of England. "In one district, it is feared a large number of casualties may have been caused," a communique said.

London had its first night alarm since June 2, with the capital's anti-aircraft guns firing until just before dawn.

RAF warplanes were no less busy. Streaking across the channel in strong formations, the British attacked the Ruhr industrial centers of Duisburg and Dusseldorf, bombed the docks at Nazi-held Rotterdam, the Netherlands, and roared down the French coast to strike at Calais, Boulogne and German gun emplacements at Cap Gris Nez.

The flames of bursting bombs lighted the Calais waterfront, it was reported, and buildings 21 miles across the channel in Dover, England, shook with the reverberation.

In the British capital, meanwhile, usually reliable sources reported receipt of information that the Germans were massing troops, artillery and aircraft in occupied Poland and Rumania for a "war of nerves" designed to wrest concessions from Soviet Russia.

These reports, similar to others made public in Ankara, Turkey, just a week ago, coincided with the arrival in London of Sir Stafford Cripps, British ambassador to Moscow.

London sources speculated that the Nazi demands revolved around oil and the great wheat areas of the Ukraine.

On the African front, the British news agency Reuters reported that Assab, second port of Italian Eritrea, had fallen to the British. Most of the colony was taken by the empire forces in April.

In North Africa, Premier Mussolini's high command reported, Italian long-range guns have been pounding day and night at the siege-bound British garrison at Tobruk, Libya.

Tobruk harbor was described as a wreck-littered "graveyard" of British ships sunk by Axis bombers, and the Italians asserted that only small craft could now enter the harbor because of the sunken hulks.

Hitler's high command admitted Germans were killed and wounded overnight in RAF attacks on Cologne, Duisburg and Bochum, Germany, where "severe destruction" of apartment houses was noted. No casualty figures were given.

In the battle of the Atlantic, the Germans claimed that Britain's 31,100-ton battleship Malaya and the 32,000-ton battle cruiser Repulse had been put out of action indefinitely by Nazi U-boat torpedoes.

Japan, Russia Sign
New Trade Pact

TOKYO — (AP) — Japan and Russia concluded a new trade agreement today as Minister of War Hideo Tojo warned that "the whole world is about to plunge into the vortex of turmoil."

The new trade agreement, which supplements the pact of neutrality and non-aggression signed at Moscow on April 13, was announced in a joint Russo-Japanese communique.

It provides for Japanese shipments to Russia of raw silk, cocoons, machines, instruments, camphor oil and general merchandise in return for petroleum

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden said that Russia is not conducting any negotiations, economic, political or military, with Germany; that it has no secret agreements with Germany and that Russo-German relations are based solely on the non-aggression pact of Aug. 23, 1939.

A sudden announcement that Russia and Japan had concluded an important trade agreement supplementing their recent, hastily-arranged neutrality and non-aggression treaty.

The disclosure that Germany intended to permit Italy to occupy a great part if not all of Greece, which would free more German troops to face Turkey and Russia in Bulgaria and Rumania.

There was a growing tendency here to connect the cessation of big German night raids on Britain, despite the present bright moon, with reports that big forces of German planes had been sent eastward.

The Secret of the Marshbanks + + +

CHAPTER XII

"I thought you didn't like Amy," Emma said, quietly watching.

"I didn't," Cherry had a swift moment of surprise that Emma knew it. "She was extremely snobbish when we had the dance here for Dorothy," she said; "but she was lovely tonight. Oh, and Aunt Emma! Her grandmother is back; she got back today. She wouldn't come into Amy's room because of the flu, but she brought her all sorts of things—you're sick again?"

"No; just a little faint. I don't believe I'll ever get my strength back again," Emma whispered. "The doctor—" she battled on, "said it would be like this, but it's the worst part of flu, I think."

"I'll go. I'm so sorry. Would you let me get you some hot milk, Aunt Emma?"

"No; stay just a minute, Cherry. I'm all right now. So—so the old lady is home again, is she?" she asked. "I thought she was going to divide her time between New York and her Palm Beach place. How long is she going to stay?"

"Amy wants to stay here and her grandmother wants to be with Amy. They had an apartment in New York when Amy was at school, and went abroad every summer. But Amy says she likes San Francisco, that it's home. She didn't say how long her grandmother will stay; I think maybe always. She's a cross sort of person, isn't she, Aunt Emma?"

"What makes you think so?" asked Emma with an air of casualness.

"Nothing much. But when Mrs. Marshbanks and I were upstairs and I was standing at Amy's door talking to Amy, she was scolding away about something. One of the servants, I guess. She wouldn't have her in the house, she said, and she knew all about her, and Amy wasn't to be bothered!"

"She's usually like that," Emma said, with completely colorless lips. She looked so suddenly pallid and exhausted that Cherry blamed herself for tiring her with her chatter. Before leaving the room she went close to the bed to say good night to her aunt, and following a sudden impulse stooped to put a light, swift kiss upon the lifeless, tight braids of iron-gray hair.

She was all ready for bed when a sudden suspicion smote her. "Of course I know who she is!" Mrs. Marshbanks had said angrily. "I won't have her in this house! I won't have Amy know her!"

Could she have been—could she possibly have been speaking of Cherry? It seemed fantastic, and yet wasn't it equally improbable that she would connect the name of Amy and one of the maids in that fashion?

"But no," Cherry said half aloud, getting into bed. "It was some one of the girls Amy knows, some debutante Fran happened to mention. That was it!"

In the morning, old Mrs. Porter had a serious setback and was dangerously ill.

A few strange days—a week went by; doctors came and went; lawyers came and went. Judge Marshbanks had a long talk with Emma. The telephone and the doorbell, both muffled, were constantly in action. All the world wanted to know how old Dovey Porter was faring.

Just two weeks from the rainy day when Cherry and Fran had come home truant from Top-cote, the old lady quietly passed away.

The judge and Amy and Fran came to the funeral in the cathedral with hundreds of other black-clad folks. Cherry and Emma with the entire domestic staff were modestly placed at the side of the church.

Emma was going to the cemetery; Cherry was going back to the empty house. She came out of the big hilltop church with the other mourners, and found herself close to the Marshbanks, who were waiting for Rousseau to bring up their car. Old Mrs. Marshbanks was in low-voiced conversation in a group of elderly men and women, but presently got into a friend's big limousine.

Fran looked pale and nervous, Cherry thought, and kept saying impatiently, "Oh, where is he? We'll have to stand here and talk to half the city at this rate!" The judge, announcing that he was going to walk down for an hour's work at his office, stood for a moment, when the others had gone, chatting with Cherry.

"He had no sooner left her than Cherry saw what she instantly concluded was the reason for Fran's uneasiness. Across the street, standing quite still, was Kelly Coates. Cherry smiled at him, and he crossed the street and joined her and they walked away together.

"There was something I wanted to talk to you about," Kelly Coates said. Cherry turned upon him surprised eyes.

"You weren't waiting to see me?"

"Why wasn't I?" he asked moodily after an oblique glance.

"Because I supposed you were waiting to see her," Cherry said.

To this the man made no direct answer, muttering after a moment, "God, she's beautiful!"

"I thought she looked rather tired this morning," Cherry observed somewhat timidly.

Kelly was silent as they walked along. Then he asked a few perfunctory questions as to the change Mrs. Porter's death might make in Cherry's situation. The girl answered cheerfully that she and Emma had discussed that, and inasmuch as there would be a great deal of work in the sorting of the old lady's possessions and the settling of her affairs,

Emma proposed to keep Cherry where she was at least until that was accomplished.

Her companion, she was aware, was listening to none of this, and after another pause broke out gloomily, "She might very well look tired, being dragged through a lot of nonsense like this showy funeral."

"They had to come," Cherry told him. "Amy's mother was Mrs. Porter's niece, or some relative anyway. Amy's mother was a Wellington, and her husband was Mrs. Porter's uncle; something like that."

"Well, why couldn't Amy come with her uncle? No, Fran had to be at that vault of a house last night and be dragged through this today—10:30 service and here it is noon! He expects her to like everything he likes."

"Who, the judge?" Cherry asked.

"No, Mahatma Gandhi," Kelly answered darkly. The girl laughed gaily.

"He's extremely kind to her," she presently said sedately. "He thinks nothing's too good for her."

"He's kind to her, of course, in his way," Kelly conceded impatiently. "He gives her things she doesn't want, and surrounds her with dear, intimate friends she loathes. A woman like that. A woman like that."

He walked for a moment in silence, then burst forth again.

"Oh, don't fool yourself! I'm not saying I could make her happy. I'm not saying anyone could. She says herself that she's 20 women—she's all women. But she's—she's so damned sweet," he added in a lower tone, shaking his head gently from side to side, and turning to Cherry a smile that came from suddenly brimming eyes.

"The other day over at my place—I've not seen her since."

"Leave it to him to see that I don't see her," he interrupted himself fiercely, after another brief interval. "She promised him—she told me so herself—that she and I wouldn't see each other; not often anyway. What right has he, or has any man to say that a woman shan't see her friends."

In all her 20 years Cherry had never been made the confidant of a man before nor witnessed his visible reactions to a hopeless love. She was thrilled to the marrow of her young being and touched at the same time with sorrow that life should deal with him so hardly, and with herself as severely. For just one of the words and looks he so longed to lavish upon Fran, what would she not have given.

Being his safety valve, having won his trust, was something anyway. While he could talk to her she was not entirely out of his life. She groped for the attitude that would hold him, spoke with almost a maternal sympathy and gentleness:

"But—but she's married."

"Of course she's married. But there's Reno, isn't there? One hour by plane."

"But—but you wouldn't want her to leave her husband, especially when he's kind to her and they have their home—why, I was wondering the other day," Cherry went on innocently, encouraged by his silence, although he did not look at her as he continued to pace moodily beside her. "I was wondering why they didn't have a baby."

"Oh!" the man muttered under his breath. "He met her at Reno," he added bitterly, stressing the pronouns.

"Is she divorced?" Her eyes, meeting his, were rounded into amazement.

DONS ODD MASK AS PRECAUTION

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—(AP)—The European war has made even American burglars conscious of the danger of gas attack.

Salt Lake City police arrested an 18-year-old Negro in the act of burglarizing a drug store. He wore a weird, cloth mask—and he assured officers it had been contrived "in case they tried to use tear gas to match me." Officers said the design wasn't very efficient—with the hood down, the mask offered no protection, and with it up, the wearer couldn't see anything anyway.

NOTICE

The annual meeting of the Mansfield Community Fund Association will be held at 7:30 p. m., July 11, in the Larwell room of the Public Library. Forty trustees will be elected for one year terms.

Proposed changes in the Constitution to come before the annual meeting:

Section 6, Paragraph n, which reads "Direct gifts of money given for current expenditures shall be deducted from the amount required from the Community Fund" changed to read:

"Direct gifts of money for current expenditures shall be reported to the Community Fund."

Section 7, which reads: "Applicants for institutional membership shall be referred to the executive committee of the Council of Social Agencies for its review and recommendation" changed to read:

"Applicants shall be referred to the Council of Community Fund Agencies."

Section 7, paragraph b, pertaining to new applicants to the Community Fund which reads:

"The agency must have been in existence one year in Mansfield and supported by funds secured by public contributions," changed to read:

"The agency must have been in existence at least two years prior to the date of application for participation in the Fund and must have been supported by funds secured by public contribution. Its budget request shall not exceed the amount of money raised by the organization the year preceding application."

Section 9, which reads: "Upon receipt of such estimate the executive committee shall submit the same to the executive committee of the Council of Social Agencies for recommendation of the total amount of the various sums to be asked as a budget for the ensuing year" changed to read:

"Upon receipt of such estimate the executive committee shall submit the same to the budget committee for recommendation of the total amount of the various sums to be set up as a budget for the ensuing year."

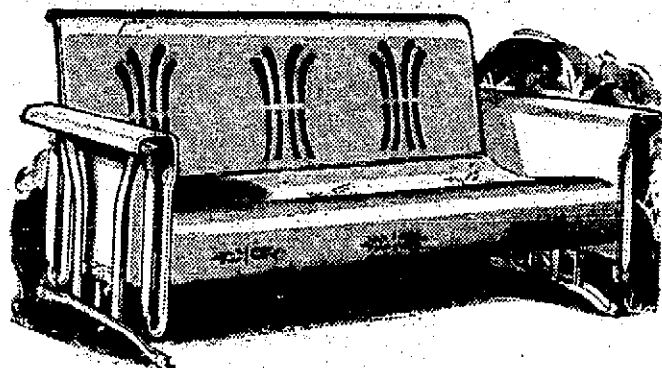

Proposed Amendment to the Constitution

"No agency or beneficiary of the Community Fund may incur increased operating expenditures as a result of a gift or expanded service without first presenting the matter to the executive committee of the Community Fund for approval and acceptance of this increased expenditure. This stipulation is set up for the protection and benefit of all agencies of the Community Fund rather than for the advancement of any one agency."

Office Staff Honors Nurses With Tea on Wednesday

Members of the staff of the Nursing school office of Mansfield General hospital entertained in honor of the graduating class Wednesday afternoon at the Nurses' home, Gleesner avenue. Seventy-five were present including parents and friends. Miss Mabel Selfe, superintendent of nurses, was chairman of the arrangements.

Tea was served from 2 to 4 o'clock with Miss Jeannie Lowe of Butler and Miss Madeline Harp of Ashland, members of the junior class, pouring. The refreshment table was attractively decorated with the class colors of yellow and orchid and the class flowers, yellow roses, formed a pretty centerpiece with the tall lighted tapers.

Guest Speakers on Program Of W. R. C. Wednesday

Department commander, Thomas Ridenour and his wife of Crestline were guests of the McLaughlin Women's Relief Corps, No. 26, and spoke to the group when they met Wednesday evening at Memorial hall. During the evening a class of six new members was installed and named the Ridenour class.

The class includes Mrs. Maude Addlesperger, Mrs. Nora Bentley, Mrs. Gladys Teeter, Mrs. Emma Case, Mrs. Cora Young and Miss Hazel Young. Senior vice president, Mrs. Bessie Buchanan, reported taking supplies to the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Home in Sandusky, Sunday.

Mrs. Katherine Sattler outlined the work done on Memorial day in preparation for the flower sale.

It was also reported that flowers had been placed on the graves of Grand Army veterans and veterans of the war of 1812 and Revolution. Mrs. Inez Tawse, chaplain, gave a short report. Mrs. Sarah Case, president, conducted the business session. Mrs. Ethel Constance gave her reports which included the benefit bridge given Saturday by Miss Mary Beistline.

Mrs. Faye Stofor gave a reading, "The Flag." After the business and social meeting refreshments were served by a committee composed of Miss Lois Addlesperger, Mrs. Polly Somers, Mrs. Clara Calver, Mrs. Faye Stofor and Inez Tawse at tables arranged in the form of a large circle. Crystal, tapers and flowers decorated the table. The next meeting will be held June 25 at Memorial hall.

Mrs. Blanche Oswald closed the program with a talk on "The White House." Lunch was served at the close of the meeting at small tables decorated with garden flowers.

CLASS MEETING.

MARY OLIVE HUGHES GIVES DINNER PARTY

Miss Sarah Catherine Wallace Feter at Party Wednesday Evening When Guests Don Costumes And Make Bride's Book As Diversion.

CONTINUING the series of nuptial honors for Miss Sarah Catherine Wallace, bride-elect of Homer Eldred of Cleveland, was the dinner party given Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Mary Olive Hughes, Sherman avenue. A social time was enjoyed when upon the arrival of the guests they were given funny old-fashioned costumes to don for the remainder of the evening. Places were laid at one long table for the dinner and appointments were in yellow and blue. A floral centerpiece decorated the table.

Later the group made a bride's book for Miss Wallace and she was presented with a gift of silver from Miss Hughes and her mother, Mrs. George Hughes. At noon today four friends entertained with a luncheon party in Defiance. Hostesses were Miss Helen Diehl of Defiance, Miss Margaret Hopper, Mansfield teacher, whose home is there, and Mrs. Harry Meheok and Miss Doris Mann, both of Mansfield. Tomorrow afternoon Miss Thelma Reed will be hostess for a bridge-ice at the Women's Club in honor of the bride-to-be.

Girls Honor Fathers With Banquet Here

Members of the Rainbow assembly for Girls held a Father-daughter banquet Wednesday evening at North Lake park. Seventy-five fathers and their daughters attended the affair which was a 6 p. m. covered-dish dinner. Toastmasters for the evening was the honorary Dad, of the assembly, Harry Henness. Lois Ohler gave a toast to the fathers. Rev. G. E. Swoyer gave the response. The toast to the girls was given by Fred Ohler and the response by Virginia Davis. After the dinner several accordion selections were offered by Betty Lou Sipes. Group singing concluded the evening program. Plans were made for the pep meeting that is being held at the club rooms Wednesday evening in preparation for the grand assembly June 18.

Sorority Plans Dance on Friday

Final plans were made for the semi-formal dance to be given by members of Delta Sigma Zeta sorority when the group met Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Jean Kelly, Vennum avenue. The dance will be held at the ballroom of the Mansfield-Leland hotel Friday evening with Miss Sally Russell as general chairman. Dancing will begin at 10 p. m. with music furnished by Chuck Whitney's orchestra. Gifts were given to members of the sorority who graduated this year.

Plans were made for a picnic to be held July 9 in charge of Miss Kelly, chairman, Miss Joan Porter, Miss Evelyn Art and Miss Margaret Gage. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, June 13.

While the lunar and solar mutual aspect for the day point to considerable gain and stability of the affairs, mainly due to industry, application, well-directed energy to the affairs and obligations in hand, yet there is shown a menace of trickery, duplicity and divers phases of fraud, intrigue and undercover schemes of deep-laid and pernicious complexion. In such treacherous circumstances it may be profitable to confer with elders, relatives or other responsible counselors. But keep alert to all illicit entanglements.

Those whose birthday it is although having a year of much concrete progress in the direction of putting their affairs on a stable and enduring foundation, by hard work, fidelity, sound judgment and tactics, yet may be subject to duplicity, fraud, illicit entanglements or some sort of baleful intrigue or stratagem, unless they are particularly keen to such duplicity. Confer with elders and superiors in tricky situations.

A child born on this day should be fairly enterprising, practical, constructive, with steadfastness and diligence, yet may suffer through subtle treacheries or peculiar entanglements.

HOLD PICNIC
MT. GILEAD—The auxiliary of the American Legion will hold their annual family picnic at the State lakes, June 22. On Thursday, June 19, the auxiliary will entertain the Women's Relief corps.

New Officers Chosen for Matlock Band

Mrs. Susan Wheaton was elected president of the Matlock Charity band when the annual business session was held Wednesday afternoon. Other officers chosen for the coming year were: Mrs. Della Richardson, vice president; Mrs. Jay Swigart, secretary; Mrs. H. J. Bronkar, assistant secretary; Mrs. Fred Heinemann, treasurer.

Mrs. Bert Gettles, Rae avenue, was hostess to the group at her home. Seventeen members and seven guests were in attendance. During the business session in charge of Mrs. Gettles, retiring president, new committee chairmen were appointed. They are as follows: sewing, Mrs. Gettles, and welfare, Mrs. John Taylor.

A picnic dinner was served at noon buffet style from a long table decorated with a mixed bouquet of garden flowers. Welfare work was done during the afternoon and Mrs. J. R. Turner entertained with an interesting reading, "The Life of Betsy Ross." Mrs. Richardson led the devotions. Assisting Mrs. Gettles with arrangements for the meeting were Mrs. Cora Linn and Mrs. Wheaton.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses. Plans were made to discontinue meetings until Sept. 10 at which time Mrs. Swigart will entertain at her home, West Third street, assisted by Mrs. Robert McIlvaine.

GARDEN MEETING.
The regular meeting of the Mansfield Garden club will be held at the home of Mrs. George Draffan, Millsboro road, Friday morning. Mrs. William Bowers will be the associate hostess.

CLUB MEETS.
Members of the Jennine club will meet to-night at the home of Miss Jeannette Remy, Altamont avenue.

Easy Pleasant Way TO LOSE FAT

How would you like to lose ten or more pounds in a month and at the same time feel better perhaps than you have for years?

How would you like to lose your double chin and your too-prominent hips and at the same time feel more youthful and be more attractive?

How would you like to get your weight down to normal and at the same time develop that urge for activity that makes work a pleasure?

Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh; then get a bottle of Kruschen Salts, which will last 4 weeks and is inexpensive—take one-half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on white bread, potatoes, butter and cream. When you have finished this first bottle, weigh yourself again.

Start today girls to get a more graceful, charming, slender figure. Leading druggists all over America sell Kruschen Salts (a famous English formula)—plain or new effervescent—pleasant, sparkling.

You can always get it at any druggist. Try one bottle—if not supremely satisfied money back.

Margaret Rizer Will Head Club Of Y. W. Girls

Miss Margaret Rizer was installed as president of the Business Girls' club of the Y. W. C. A. when the annual meeting was held in the club rooms Wednesday evening. Other officers will be Miss Frances Carter, vice president, Miss Vivian Roberts, secretary and Miss Marjorie Hayward, treasurer. Miss Charlotte Gray will be program chairman. Installation was in charge of the retiring officers. Musical selections were given during the social hour and devotions were conducted by Miss Mary Ellen Bechtel. Miss Jean Shively was in charge of the business. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Misses Ellen Terry and Anna Marie McQuaid. Miss Norma Sheer and Miss Roberts were in charge of the decorations for the rituals.

COUNT YOUR TRICKS

MORE GOOD contracts are wrecked by failure to count your winners at No Trumps or your losers at suit play than by any other factor. Second in line probably is attention to the entry situation, to make sure that you bring in the tricks you count, without having to sacrifice some of them or see them languish and die for inability to get at your winning cards. Frequently these two errors are coupled in the same hand, and sometimes involved in a single fatal play.

This particular South was a No Trump bug in rubber bridge, and it is too bad he couldn't furnish the play to back up his bidding. It was painful to the kibitzer to see him throw a sure-thing contract away because of his hastiness. West led the diamond 4, North playing the 3. East discarding his club 7 and the 6 winning. Right there he was beaten, but didn't know it.

South next took in his heart A, overtook the heart Q with dummy's K and led the heart J. When West discarded his club 2, South was panicky. He led another heart from dummy to East's 10, setting up dummy's 6, but never got a chance to use it. East came back with the club Q, which South ducked, then led the club 6 to the K, and the third club went to the A. South now cashed his diamond A and led the 2, hoping West would be fool enough to let dummy's 10 win, but West went in with the K, led his spade 3 to the A and East rashed another club, losing the last trick to the spade K of South, who was down two.

How easy if South had counted his tricks and played the diamond J on that first trick, to leave himself two cards smaller than dummy's best two diamonds. The

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)
By ADELE GARRISON

"Obviously not, this being a conservative hotel," the owner of the Lansfield countered. "And one other thing—do not have them ask at the desk for you. Give them the number of this room, so that they can come directly here. I will give directions downstairs to make this procedure possible."

"I will do that," I said, turning to the telephone. "And I will just slip through this hidden door to the other suite," he said. "to make sure that the man on the balcony hasn't attempted an entrance."

He turned toward the door, but his wife caught his arm.

"And I will go with you," she said.

"No," Philip Veritzen said decisively, but she did not release her hold.

"If it is dangerous for me it is for you," she said, with an obstinate note in her voice. "Surely, you can manage some other way."

No one else in the world could have so flouted his authority, but his smile at her held no reservation.

Veritzen Yields to Olga.

"If you command, I must," he said flamboyantly, "although an occasion may arise, sometime, when I must disobey your wishes."

"Then I shall acquiesce gladly in your decision," she said quickly. "But this time—"

"This time I obey," he said. "I will go out this outer door, take one of the guards from this hall, pick up one of the two in the other hall, and enter that balcony suite from the other door. Does that satisfy you?"

"Perfectly," she said, smiling, but I spoke quickly as he moved toward the door.

"May I add one caution?" I asked.

"A dozen, if you wish," he said. But there was a note in his voice that belied the expansive permission. It was one thing for him to obey Olga's restriction; something far different for him to heed anyone else. But I knew that his innate courtesy, and his realization that after all this was my affair, made him acquiescent.

I cared little for his attitude, however. All I wished was to make my point clear.

Gangster Must Not Suspect.

"Please make as much noise as is plausibly possible when you enter that other suite," I said, "and give the man plenty of time to get back to the balcony if he should have entered the room. I want him to have no suspicion that his presence has been discovered."

covered, for I want no slip-up on his capture when my father's men get here."

"That is a very good precaution," he said, "and I shall observe it, as far as making myself audible is concerned. But I shall keep the men mute. You do not wish him to know that I am bringing them into the room, I am sure."

"Of course not," I told him, and with a smile at his wife he went out at the door, and I took the telephone from his cradle.

"If you will excuse me," I murmured to Olga. And then, when the operator answered, I gave her the private telephone number of my father's hideaway in Greenwich Village.

Gus answered the call, and the sound of his cheery, familiar voice brought rushing memories of the drama which had been enacted in that hideaway—drama which had so nearly resulted in my father's death and the foiling of his plans to save Dicky and Noel from death and torture, also Mary from capture by half insane and wholly villainous Jack Leslie.

In the blessed peace which had followed Jack Leslie's death and the lifting of the siege from the farmhouse, I had had no occasion to recall the ingenious hideaway to memory. But I knew that my father still kept it intact, since the only men who had discovered its secret had never been given the slightest opportunity to use their knowledge. They had been deported and lost in the grim, hopeless cavern which was now their native land.

"Who is this?" Gus was asking. "Who? Mrs. Graham?" Then with manifest excitement and concern, he asked "Is anything the matter with your father?"

Recipe for washing WORK CLOTHES

CLIMALENE LOOSENS STUBBORN GREASE

Follow this "sure-fire" recipe. Here's an easy way to wash work clothing—recommended by many home economists.

1. Soak overnight in Climalene bath to loosen heavy grease (2 tablespoons to tub).
2. Wring, wash in usual way—sprinkling 2 tablespoons Climalene in water before adding 1/2 usual amount of soap.
3. 1/2 tablespoon Climalene in first rinse aids thorough rinsing.

Climalene loosens the grease to which grime and dirt cling. Work clothes wash clean and soft again. Use Climalene for all the family wash, too. See directions on package.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

The Legends of Broadway. (No. 11—The Vanishing Host)

CHECK it off to the demise of prohibition, or to juke boxes and income taxes and double features, or maybe to a new wisdom in this hemisphere — what ever happened, the day of the BIG party is over.

Oh, it's true that more than 1,600 people passed through the hallowed portals of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt's mansion the other night for a party—but that was at $10 a head. The good old cut party, with jazz playing and cocktail shakers rattling and one man footing the bill for the sake of sweet fun and camaraderie is just something in the memory book.

Turn the pages to one such party. The host—a fellow named Elmer Leterman. The place—a fabulous penthouse. The time—yesteryear!

Rudolph Friml was tinkling on the piano, just brushing the keys with his white fingers. He was explaining Victor Herbert to a tall, well-knit man who was sharing the bench with him. "Not strength, my friend—but heart! Don't you feel it?" he asked.

"Yah, yah. A man can drink beer to such melodies," agreed the Teuton—the famous sea raider, Count Von Luckner. Sea raider of a horrible war that was in the past and sea raider of a worse war that was to come. "But tell me," he asked, "who is that beautiful woman over there?" Friml looked and answered: "You shall meet her. That is Dolores Del Rio."

Yes, this was a party that really happened. Countless plays and novels and yards of gossip evolved from situations which had their inception in this place on this night.

Gene Sarazen and Al Jolson were partners on the second terrace's miniature golf course, playing a match for $10 a hole against Leo Diegel and Joe Schenck. The scorekeeper was a handsome lad whose baby blue eyes fooled you about his toughness. This was Johnny Costello, more popularly known as Johnny Irish.

Later that evening he introduced Al to a sweet little girl who danced—a girl named Ruby Keeler. Then tough Johnny Irish never dreamed that he was to lose Ruby to the great star, the Mammy Singer.

Never thought for a moment that in the near future he would corner Al and issue the warning that made the plot for a good motion picture:

"It's a great break for the kid to marry a big star like you. But be good to her, Al—or you'll answer to me!"

Mae Klotz and Ruby Stevens ate heaps of hors d'oeuvres and watched the gaiety in ecstatic bliss. In later years, as Mae Clarke and Barbara Stanwyck, I'm sure they never enjoyed a party more.

Roger Wolfe Kahn, and his "cheerful little earful," Hannah Williams, were describing their new airplane to Buddy Rogers. Earl Carroll was telling Jack Dempsey and Tex Rickard about his plans for a new super-special theater. Jack excused himself.

Abe Lyman was sitting on a nearby love seat talking to a pretty girl, and the champ felt it was an ideal time to apply a hot-foot to the maestro.

They weren't thinking of that prank that night a few years later when pal Abe advised pal Jack to marry the woman he loved—Hannah Williams.

Harry Richman made a dazzling entrance with his fiancée, Clara Bow. Mario Braggiotti was pounding out a tango and Harry dropped his momentary dignity with a shouting: "Hey, that's for us!" He and the "It" girl slid down the room in a comic fandango.

"He sure does hat the spotlight," snickered one Follies beauty to her friend, Blanche Satchel. This was Hazel Forbes, registering disapproval of Harry's shenanigans.

"Aw, honey, you've got him all wrong," said Blanche. "Wait till you meet him—you'll love him!"

I wonder if Hazel remembered that dialogue when she and Harry marched to Mendelssohn? Jimmy Walker and George Jessel doffed their top hats, both weary from banquet speaking. Jimmy looked around, took a deep breath, and murmured: "New York, I love you."

Kim Moran and her husband, Max Bamberger, brushed by the two Ziegfeld beauties, Hazel and Blanche, as they were leaving. It was awfully late, dear. Max was saying, "We really stayed too long."

Blanche gave him the once-over and said in an aside to Hazel: "Deliver me from big business men!" Her wish got lost somewhere in the marital mixups of that hectic era. Not long afterward Blanche Satchel became Mrs. Max Bamberger.

OPEN BIGGEST SINGLE-STORY ENGINE PLANT

Wright Corporation Begins
Work In Giant Aircraft
Factory Today.

(By International News Service)
CINCINNATI — Significant of the giant strides national defense is making in America, the Wright Aeronautical corporation's new 50-acre aircraft engine factory was to be formally dedicated today in the presence of high government officials.

It is the largest single-story industrial plant in the world. It covers 2,120,000 square feet and will be able to turn out Cyclone 14-cylinder engines of 1,700 h.p. at a rate of more than 1,000 a month.

It is the Wright company's sixth plant. And when all six reach peak production by July, 1942, more than 30,000 workers will be employed in the mass production of aircraft as bombers, fighters, attack, dive-bombers, long-range patrol boats, cargo transports, scout-observation and training planes.

William S. Knudsen, director of the office of production management, army and navy officials, and government leaders of Ohio will be among those present at the dedication ceremonies. Knudsen, representing the defense organization that approved the construction of the plant, will be the principal speaker. The ceremonies will close with the raising of the United States flag over the new building.

The government asked the Wright company on May 30, 1940, to undertake an expansion plan. Knudsen gave his approval of the plan, with the stipulation that the new plant be located somewhere beyond the Alleghenies, well away from the Atlantic seaboard.

As the new plant is being dedicated today, the finished parts for the first group of a vast supply of aircraft engines will be moving through the huge factory. At work today will be 2,700 employees, the vanguard of an eventual 12,000 employees.

Principal unit of the plant is the mammoth machine shop and assembly building, stretching over 37 acres of floor space unbroken by walls or partitions.

50 EXAMINED

More Prospective Selectees
Called to Armory.

Nearly 50 prospective selectees for military service took physical examination yesterday at the Mansfield Armory as the county's draft boards sought eligible men to fill calls for late June and July. It was the first examination period here in more than two weeks. Most of the boards' 200 men who were ready to leave the first of this month are under call to report and other calls for a large number of men are expected in July.

Board No. 1 sent 18 to the Armory for examinations yesterday, while Board 2 called 12 and Board 3, 17.

CHANGE WOULD AFFECT 5,000

Ohioans Would Escape Army Service Under Proposed New Draft Age.

COLUMBUS — A State selective service records showed today that about 5,000 Ohio men will escape their year of military training provided congress acts speedily on the proposal to cut the top age limit from 36 to 28 years.

Basing their figures on exact percentages by age groups of men already inducted into the army, state officials estimated that there are now 5,175 men in class 1-A who won't have to go into the army if the age-reduction legislation meets final approval.

Sitting that younger men have proved to be better potential soldiers, national selective service officials are seeking the change also to avoid as much disruption of business and family life, as possible.

The change, if approved, probably will not cause any slowdown in induction machinery for Ohio because all boards at present have surpluses of 1-A men. All men over 27 years of age among the 300,000 Ohioans who have not yet been classified would be given automatic deferment.

State records showed that slightly less than 10 per cent of the men classified in Ohio have been found available for immediate military service. The percentage of men over 27 years who have been placed in class 1-A is 23.3.

BODY TO BE BURIED HERE

Rites for Mrs. Rosa Runyon to Be Held Sunday.

The body of Mrs. Rosa Runyon, 77, a former resident of Mansfield, who died at Alamo, Tex., Jan. 21 will be brought to Mansfield for funeral services at the Finckel funeral home Sunday at 3 p. m. Rev. D. N. Roller, of the First Presbyterian church, will officiate. Burial will be in Franklin cemetery.

Mrs. Runyon had lived in Mansfield until two years ago when she moved to Alamo.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Roy Linn, of Alamo, and Mrs. John B. Sloane, of Phoenix, Ariz.

27 ALREADY MAKE APPLICATION FOR MANSFIELD'S GUARD UNIT

Twenty-seven applicants for enlistment in the Mansfield unit of the newly-formed state guard have already been received, Capt. Glen L. Bierly announced today.

Thus, Capt. Bierly pointed out, applications already total nearly half the full strength of the company, depending on whether the applicants can pass the physical examination for enlistment. Information concerning the physical examination has not yet been received, Capt. Bierly said.

Reliable reports from Columbus have put the full strength of the Mansfield unit—designated as Company F, 3rd regiment—at 57 men and three officers.

WORK STARTED

NYA Begins Construction of Farm School Buildings.

R. H. Thomas, sub-area National Youth Administration director, today announced the beginning of construction of two new farm machine training schools at Shiloh and Ontario and two more buildings to go into construction early next week at the Union township school and at Marengo, Morrow county.

Thomas said supervision of the mechanical classes will be under school superintendent's, but funds for instructor's salaries will be paid with federal funds administered by the state board of education. The 30 by 70 foot brick buildings are planned for use Sept. 1, Thomas said.

Construction costs will approximate $7,000 a building with the NYA furnishing the labor and the school boards the materials. When completed the schools will teach farm youths how to operate and care for farm mechanical equipment.

FORMER PREMIER DIES

EDMONTON, Alta. — (AP) — Dr. Alexander Cameron Rutherford, 84, first premier of Alberta, serving from 1905 to 1910, and founder of the University of Alberta, of which he became chancellor in 1926, died here yesterday.

Laff-a-Day

"We are just checking up. Several draftees have listed you people as dependents."

A slip of the tongue may have deprived Frank P. Will, Shelby youth, of a chance in the U. S. air corps after he worked hard to get into military training and apparently succeeded. Back home yesterday from Fort Thomas, Ky., where he enlisted for three years in the air corps, Will said he passed the physical examination and was assured of acceptance for training until he told officers he had been rejected by the army at Fort Hayes, Columbus. With that information, the Fort Thomas officers deferred his case for 30 days and sent him home. They said he would have to take another examination within the 30 days. Will was the object of a search in Columbus last week when he failed to return home after being rejected by the army because of his teeth.

Tony Weissgarber, Fourth avenue, a 13-year-old News-Journal carrier, was pretty downcast today about losing his new bicycle. Tony's bike, which he used to deliver papers, was stolen from along the Ashland road near the Armory. Sheriff Frank E. Robinson and police so far have found no trace of it. Tony described the bike as painted red and cream with a headlight.

City hall associates of Joe Ziegler, bookkeeper in the sewage department, gave their departing fellow worker a "send-off" yesterday before he left the office to report at Fort Hayes in Columbus today for a year's military training. A handsome leather-encased radio was presented him by Mayor William J. Locke. When Joe tried out the radio the broadcast indicated that it could not have been better timed if the program had been previously arranged. For the music that filled the air was the popular song, "Good-Bye Now."

An interesting exhibit of pen and ink drawings by Robert E. Huffman of The News-Journal staff, is being shown at Mansfield Public Library. Insect life sketches, subject for several drawings were made for illustration purposes. Huffman has had several "one-man shows" all of which were in Omaha while teaching Fine Arts at the University of Omaha. He received his M. A. degree from Ohio State university.

FIGURE SET

County Farmers To Receive $1.08 Loan on Wheat.

Although Richland county farmers voted against the government wheat marketing quotas at an election two weeks ago, they will receive a loan of $1.08 a bushel on the wheat they store, like the nation's other wheat farmers, Guy L. Taylor, county AAA chairman, said today.

The $1.08 loan is 35 cents more than farmers received last year on their wheat. Loans will be available until Dec. 31, 1941, and will be payable on April 30, 1942, at three per cent interest.

The higher loan, plus AAA parity and soil conservation payments, will give farmers their best return for wheat since the early 1920's, Taylor said.

County farmers who seed more wheat than their AAA allotments call for will be eligible for loans of 60 per cent of the $1.08 rate on wheat produced in excess of their allotments, the AAA chairman explained.

Farmers were urged to hold their 1941 crop in approved storage bins on their farms. Farmers who do not have the necessary structures to house loan wheat will be eligible to receive seven cents a bushel in advance on the number of bushels to be stored for construction or repair of storage facilities.

TO ENLARGE ARMS PLANT AT SANDUSKY

Government Will Finance New Facilities at Homestead, 20 Millions in Ohio.

(By Associated Press)
PITTSBURGH — Informed steel circles heard today the United States Steel corporation will launch the nation's steel-making expansion program by erecting a $50,000,000 plant at its already vast works here.

The reports, which officials declined to affirm or deny "at this time," were that the corporation and government are in "substantial agreement" on a plan whereby the government will finance construction of the new facilities. Work may start next month.

Officials of the corporation — the nation's largest steel producer — disclosed some time ago that options have been taken as fast as possible on a huge block of ground adjoining the Homestead mill as well as on another plot of land near the company's Duquesne works. Most of these options expire June 30, it was said.

The "expansion plans, which lapsed for a time, were brought to a sudden revival recently by the request of the office of production management that the industry expand ingot facilities by 10,000 tons a year. The present capacity is about 80,000 tons.

It is known that "big steel's" draftsmen have been working overtime to hurry completion of blueprints.

The "Iron Age," steel trade magazine, reported today tentative allotments of capacity additions by the operators call for the U. S. Steel corporation to add 3,200,000 tons to its present annual capacity, which would maintain its ratio of about 35.2 per cent of the nation's output.

Other allotments were said to be 1,800,000 tons by Bethlehem Steel, second largest producer, 1,400,000 to Republic Steel, third largest, and the remainder to be divided among the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation, the National Steel corporation and the American Rolling Mill company. The expansion plans call for about 55 open hearth furnaces and from 17 to 20 new blast furnaces.

200 Expected Here For Annual Outing Of Traffic Club

Approximately 200 officials of railroads and industrial firms in Ohio and neighboring states are expected to attend the annual golf outing and dinner of the Central Ohio Traffic club next Thursday at the Westbrook Country club.

Golfing will start in the morning at the country club and the annual dinner will be at 7:30 p. m. at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Trophies will be awarded at the dinner. Toastmaster will be C. L. Van Derau, works manager at the Westinghouse plant.

Members of the committee in charge of arrangements are James E. Young, freight and passenger agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad company in Mansfield, and Claude Robison, supervisor of traffic at the Mansfield Westinghouse plant.

Among the distinguished guests expected to attend the outing and dinner are William White, New York City, president of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, and C. E. Denny, St. Paul, president of the Northern Pacific railroad.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — George Brent looks exactly like a good G-man, and nobody looks more Soot-land Yard than Basil Rathbone. Tim Whelan, who's the director, might conceivably pass as an agent of the law, and Iona Massey, slim and blond and very beautiful, certainly fits the popular idea of an exotic charmer enmeshed in spy schemes.

But there's one man around the set of "International Lady"—the cops-and-saboteurs movie — you wouldn't suspect of any criminal-chasing proclivities. He's white-haired, wears glasses over his humorous blue eyes, and displays a Gaelic smile and a soothing manner. That's Joe Dunn. He is—or was until his retirement recently—a real G-man. Dunn's job now is that of chief investigator for the Los Angeles district attorney. He was in charge of the New York office of FBI when the Lindbergh kidnapping broke, and he worked on the chase of the outlaw Dillinger. He's a friend of Brent's, and he came over to the sets to help.

They've quite elaborate G-man headquarters for the movie. There's an anteroom where suspects can be kept in hot uncertainty, and an office of the Special Agent in Charge (played by Charles D. Brown, who looks like a G-man too). There's a filing room and a decoding room. There also is a recording outfit that scrambles words, and another that unscrambles them. There are telephones and a short-wave radio set, and card-digesting machines—the kind that tell all when you tell it practically any little clue. Say your quarry has a broken molar and a mole on his neck and that's all you know. So you put in a card fitting that description and out comes a card with all details. The decoding room is something special, too. Blackboards, easels and charts, and cipher grills and letter frequency devices and a decodograph, which is a big black cone made of layers of revolving discs that are supposed to tear a code apart in practically no time. And there's a piano, because the code in the plot is a musical code, sung by Iona Massey over a national hook-up.

No Estimate Placed on Damage Which Cripples Oil Quenching Unit.

SHELBY—Fire damaged an oil quenching tank yesterday afternoon at the Ohio Seamless Tube company plant here.

Starting from an unknown origin, the blaze was put out after Shelby firemen used a half a ton of foamite, a powder used in fighting oil fires, in the tank.

Flames shooting up from the vat fired the roof of the building but the flames were extinguished by firemen.

Both city fire trucks were put in use. Damage was not estimated.

Seven Boy Scouts came before the Shelby District Court of Honor Tuesday night at the high school.

Presiding over the court as chairman was Supt. C. G. Keck of the Shelby schools. Assisting on the court were A. M. Kirkpatrick, O. H. Pfahler, Albert Barkdull, W. R. Farnell and Willard Boyles.

All Scouts receiving awards were from Troop 3. One boy, Frank Petrie, was advanced to second class rank.

Others receiving merit badge awards were Donald Cline, carpentry, wood work and turning; David Lewis, chemistry, gardening, bird study and scholarship; Dudley Lewis, cooking and path finding; Gordon Lewis, pathfinding and metal work; George Hatcher, first aid and public health; and John White, first aid and public health.

Women's Relief corps from district 8 will gather here for a district rally. Corps are expected to be represented from Upper Sandusky, Galion, Bucyrus, Crestline, Mansfield, Mount Gilead, and Ashland. Harper corps No. 65 of this city is the entertaining group.

THEATERS

Shore Leave.

Shore leave for a gob means no end of fun for the audience in "A Girl, a Guy and a Gob," showing at the Ohio. Trouble begins when a millionaire socialite gets mixed up with an eccentric family reminiscent of the Sycamores in "You Can't Take It With You." Edmond O'Brien plays the guy with money and Lucille Ball, the girl with the family. George Murphy is the gob. The three-cornered romance is Harold Lloyd's first venture as a motion picture producer and it's as funny as Lloyd's own comedies used to be. Franklin Pangborn and Kathleen Howard are in the cast.

Pre-War Vienna.

Vienna's Prater, the Coney Island of Austria, furnishes gaiety and color to "So Ends Our Night," an absorbing dream about political refugees and their flight over Europe showing at the Madison. Starring Margaret Sullivan, Frederic March, Glenn Ford and Frances Dee the picture is based on Erich Maria Remarque's story "Flotsam," and begins in Vienna before the Nazi regime. March plays a refugee from Germany and Anna Sten is cast as his wife. The other romantic theme is furnished by Margaret Sullivan and Glenn Ford who share a luckier fate than their companions. Erich von Stroheim is in the cast. A comedy, "Thieves Fall Out," is the second feature.

Slick Mystery.

Slick mystery is blended with comedy and romance in "Scotland Yard," showing at the Ritz with Nancy Kelly, Edmund Gwenn and John Loder in the cast. Loder plays a dual role, that of a London banker who falls into the hands of the Gastapo, and also the bank-robber who takes the banker's place by reason of clever plastic surgery. When the Gastapo threatens the impostor unless he helps carry off a large amount of gold to Germany the pater decides to frustrate the plot at the expense of exposing his true identity. "Victory," with Frederic March, Betty Field and Sir Cedric Hardwicke is the co-attraction.

Crop Dusters.

The "Dead End Kids" are up in the air in "Give Us Wings," the Park attraction after slumming it through their former pictures. As a group of young "grease-monkeys," who recklessly accept an offer to fly decrepit planes for a small-time aerial crop-dusting company the "Kids" weave a story that contains the elements of both tragedy and comedy. Wallace Ford, Victor Jory and Anne Gwynne support the "Kids" in this production. Zane Grey's "The Border Legion," with Roy Rogers is the second picture.

Western Saga.

Bill Elliott leaves behind him previous roles as "Wild Bill Hickok," and portrays the grandson of the famous scout of early American history in "The Return of Daniel Boone," showing at the Majestic Friday. He imprisons both sheriff and mayor when he catches an unscrupulous hotel owner raising taxes of struggling ranchers and a pistol-brandishing western girl aids him in his endeavors. Betty Miles plays opposite the star. "Double Date," with Edmond Lowe and Una Merkel is the second feature.

Umpires are being barbed-wired right and left in the journals serving the Ohio State League cities. This corner hasn't been alone in pointing out the shortcomings of some of the boys in blue, although it has maintained that in umpiring as in everything else, you get what you pay for, and the brand of guesswork has been just about in line with O. S. loop salaries for arbiters.

Dick Behr in the Fremont News-Messenger landed on the umpires with both feet throughout an entire column recently, and Bill Synpp, of the Lima News, who also acts as league secretary, hauled out the mace the other day and went to work.

Behr expressed the opinion that league Prexy Joe Donnelly's idea of a school for umpires was a good one originally, but he feared the wrong ones were chosen, or that the ones who were picked are content to be D-league umpires and are making no effort to improve their work.

Synpp climbed on Barney Eig for indecision which led to a 20-minute argument in a Lima-Fremont game, during which Eig twice called a hit fair, and twice called it foul.

Give your pity to the umps. They're the lads who take the bumps.

Synpp reports that after the game Eig offered the theory that perhaps the ball hit the foot of Lima batter Tommy Milich.

When someone suggested that Eig examine Milich's foot, Tommy promised a foot in the face of Mr. Eig if that worthy gentleman attempted such an examination.

Is it possible the ball players have no respect for the umpires either?

I have never been able to understand the mental processes of guys who would be umpires. I wouldn't take the clamor of the boo birds for anything, but the umpires take it and seem to like it. In fact they have been known to laugh it off.

But let some indication of the fans' displeasure at the work of the umps get into public print, and these hardy souls are right up in arms. They should realize that the errors of umpires have as much business in the papers as the errors of ball players. Maybe there should be a place in the box score for umpires' errors.

For the most expressive nickname in the Ohio State League, pass the palm olive to "Soapy" Lathers, Fostoria shortstop.

TUBE RALLIES
SHELBY—Rallying in the last two innings, Ohio Seamless Tube Co. defeated the Cycle Co. team, 18 to 7, last night in the Shelby softball league.

Weatherly Beaned By Ken Chase

Stormy Has Concussion; Indians Beat Senators.

CLEVELAND—(P)—Having won seven out of ten in their latest home stand, the Indians were trying for a three-game sweep from Washington today before starting an eastern trip.

Roy Weatherly, who suffered a brain concussion when he was struck on the head by a fast pitched ball in the fourth inning of yesterday's contest, will be out of the lineup for a while, and his place will be taken by Soup Campbell. Weatherly has been hitting .302.

Al Milnar makes another attempt to get back into the win column today, May 23 having been the date on which he last won a game. Steve Sundra, like Milnar a product of the Cleveland sandlots, is his opponent.

Hal Trosky, next man up after Ken Chase's pitch struck the Indian center fielder, took two strikes and then belted a three-run homer which counted heavily in the Tribe's 6 to 4 victory.

Before the inning was over, Lou Boudreau's double had driven in another run, and Washington had the lead.

Al Smith acquired his fourth victory for a .500 average as the Tribe stretched its league lead to four and one-half games. That made it six in a row for the Indians, all of them without errors.

Before they open a three-game series in New York Saturday, the Indians will meet the Cincinnati Reds tomorrow in an exhibition game at Conestown, N. Y., birthplace of baseball.

Gene Desautels, recovered from an operation on his abscessed leg, was back in uniform yesterday, and will accompany the Tribe east, but will not be ready for play for at least a week.

The Indians are going to get some head protectors, for optional use, as a result of the injury to Roy Weatherly.

After visiting Weatherly at the hospital, where an x-ray showed no sign of a fracture, C. C. Slapnicka, club vice president, remarked "The boy could have been killed."

"I'm going to get skull caps for the players. Several of the Indians have agreed to wear them and I'll try to get the others to do so. Wearing of the caps will be optional, however, just as it is with the Brooklyn Dodgers."

ARNST WINS THREE MEDALS IN SHOOT

L. A. Arnst, Mansfield marksman, shot his way to a gold and two silver medals in the North-eastern and Southeastern Ohio Rifle and Pistol association sectional match at Akron.

Arnst topped the heap in the rapid fire .30 calibre match, shooting ten shots from 200 and 300 yards. His score was 48-16 for a 94 total. He took a silver medal in offhand shooting at 200 yards with a total of 47 and was runner-up again in the final match of high aggregate scorers. His total was 231.

Ray Talks Good Bout for Conn

Claims Joe Louis Can't Hit Like He Used To.

By GAYLE TALBOT
POMPTON LAKES—(P)—Billy Conn of Pittsburgh is basing his belief that he will win the heavy-weight championship from Joe Louis next Wednesday night largely on the conviction that the negro has lost "fifty per cent" of his punch and no longer can hurt an opponent seriously with one lick.

Both Billy and his manager, Johnny Ray, are absolutely convinced that Louis has slipped badly in the last year and is ripe for the taking.

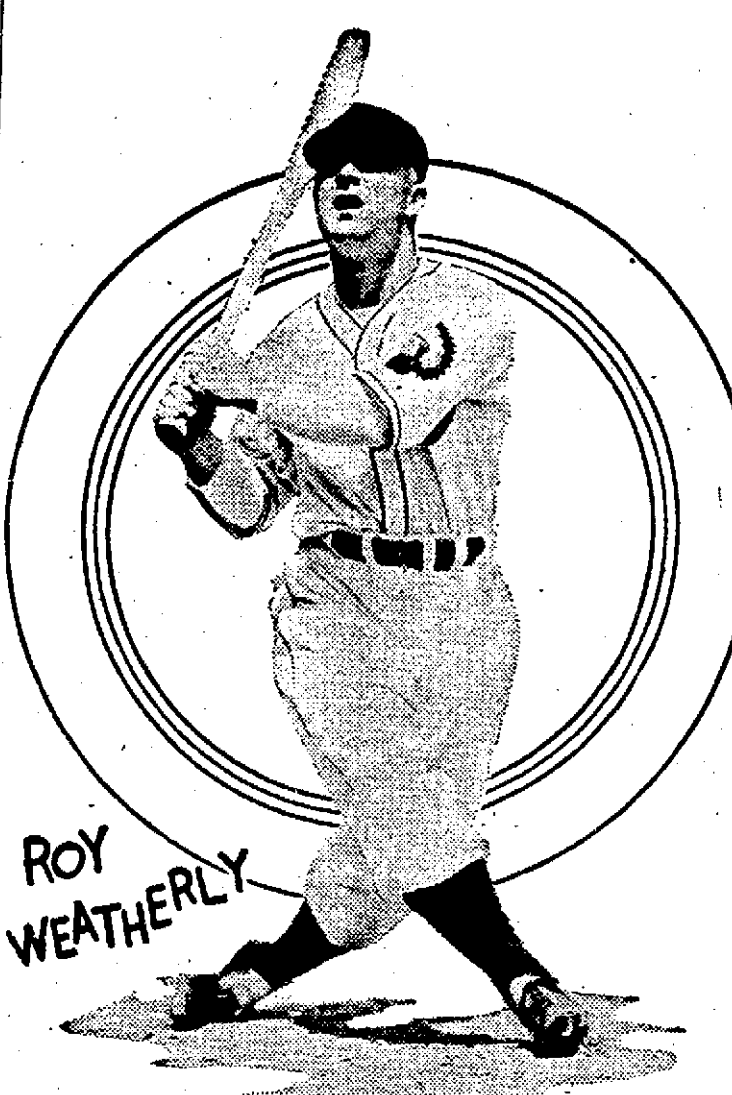

"Honest," swore Johnny, "I shut my eyes and was afraid to look every time Buddy Baer hit him the other night in Washington. I could just see us losing this shot at the championship."

"And who's he been killing with one punch lately?" chimed in the challenger. "The guy can't hit like he used to. He hit Baer with everything he had forty times and didn't even mark him up."

"He's lost 50 per cent of his punch, easy," continued Ray, "and he knows it, too. He's plenty worried. He's working harder than he ever did in his life. Told some fellows yesterday he wished he had two more days to train than he's got."

Conn's training hard, prepar-

Stormy Beaned By Chase

CLEVELAND—(P)—Condition of Roy Weatherly, injured Cleveland Indian outfielder, was described as "very good" today by hospital attaches at Lakeside hospital, where the chunky Red-skin star is recovering from the effects of a beaming by Kendall Chase in yesterday's game with Washington. It was indicated there was a strong possibility that Weatherly would be released by tonight, or tomorrow at the latest. Doctors are studying X-ray pictures taken of his skull.

ing his body to go at top speed for 15 rounds. He already is in superb condition, almost at the peak.

Yesterday, for instance, he fought eight hard rounds against four opponents, a couple of whom were 200-pounders, and then put in two more rounds on the heavy bag and shadow-boxing.

The main impression this observer carried away from Billy's camp was that Billy still looked mighty small to be fighting Joe Louis. That, and the renewed knowledge that he is not particularly hard to hit.

Mansfield Moves to Within Two Games of First Place in Loop

MANSFIELD Braves got out their war clubs last night, massacred the Tiffin Mud Hens 4 to 1 and 7 to 4 in a double header at the Fairground, and threw the Ohio State league race into a wide-open scramble.

Today the Braves are just two games behind first-place Findlay, and it's anybody's flag as Chief Alex Clowson and his crippled but climbing warriors take to the road for games tonight at Tiffin and tomorrow night at Lima.

Saturday night they returned home for a double header against Lima, with the event labelled as Dad's night, since the Braves will be away on Sunday which is Dad's day. Children under 16 will be admitted free if accompanied by their fathers.

Mansfield heroes there were in plenty last night as the Braves twice tumbled the Hens. But chief honors went to the two tall twirlers, Freddy Wolpert and Rudy Okleson, whose bats were as potent as their mound stuff, and to hustling Bob Ankrum at short who covered all the ground from behind second to back of the left field bleachers, and to mighty Eddie Mutryn who clouted a home run high, high, high over the left field fence to start the second game's winning rally.

Wolpert had the Hens completely subdued throughout the 9-inning opener, allowing one run on six hits and fanning eight. Not one base on balls did tall Greddy dish out, and the run was unearned.

Count Dick Morse in that list of heroes. In the fourth inning of the first game, Tim Mangan was safe at first as Hurler Don Bayliss missed the bag on a toss from Gerlach. leading off, singled, and after Sanders fled to center, Campau doubled, sending King to third. Gerlach walked, filling the sacks, and Boone also walked, forcing in King. Campau tallied as Koles rolled out to Moore, and Rudy ended the threat by fanning Weigle.

The Braves came right back with two runs in their half of the first. Ankrum drew a walk. Morse lined to third, but Salem slapped a single to left, and Mutryn poled a long double to the center field fence, scoring Ankrum and Salem.

They went ahead in the third when Salem drove a hard liner over second for a single, went to second as Mutryn bounded out, and scored on Graf Moore's single. (Continued on Page 17)

Cardinal Infielder Injured

Jim Brown Forced Out Of Action 3 Weeks.

By JUDSON BAILEY
It takes a great ball club to survive a series of injuries such as the St. Louis Cardinals have been getting.

In the course of beating the Philadelphia Phillies 3-2 in 10 innings last night, the Cardinals lost the services of Third Baseman Jimmy Brown for about three weeks because of a broken finger on his throwing hand.

A month ago their regular catcher, Rookie Walker Cooper, suffered a broken bone in his shoulder and a dislocation of his collarbone and since then both First Baseman Johnny Mize and Second Baseman Frank (Creepy) Crespi have had broken fingers.

These in addition to the usual bumps and bruises any baseball team must contend with, Crespi is back now and Mize may be expected to return to service most any day, but Cooper has at least another month to go.

Brown was hurt in the first inning last night at Philadelphia while sliding into third base for a triple that brought his team's first run.

The victory lifted St. Louis two full games ahead of the second-place Brooklyn Dodgers, who were shellacked 8-1 by the Pittsburgh Pirates in another night struggle.

Dick Erickson, who had won only one previous game, pitched the Boston Braves to a three hit, 2-0 shutout of the Cincinnati Reds in a duel with Bucky Walters. The latter allowed no runs after the first inning.

The Chicago Cubs and New York Giants divided a double-header, the Cubs winning 3-2 and then losing 8-7.

Two games in the American league escaped rain in the Midwest. The Cleveland Indians enhanced their lead by whipping the Washington Senators 6-4, and the Detroit Tigers downed the Philadelphia Athletics 5-2.

GIRARD COURSE PAR CUT TWO STROKES

GIRARD—(P)—Mahoning Country club's par stood at 34-36-70 today after a second whittling, in defiance of some 175 entrants expected in the $5,000 Mahoning Valley open, which begins tomorrow.

Originally 72, par was cut a point Tuesday and another point yesterday, as the number of entries passed the 150 mark.

Braves Tounce Tiffin Twice

Then came the rousing sixth, with Mutryn leading off with his homer over the left field wall. Moore and Mangan went out, but Siebert and Clowson singled, and Okleson patted a line-drive double against the left field fence, driving in two runs. Ankrum also doubled on a power back of second that no one could reach, and Okleson scored.

Tiffin threatened in the seventh, but the Hens' two-run rally was far short. King was safe at first when Siebert dropped Moore's low throw, after King already had been waved out. Sanders plated King with a triple and then scored on Campau's bouncer to short. Ankrum made a great play on this one, racing back of second to snag the ball, and wheeling the pellet over to first while on the dead run.

The Chicago Cubs and New York Giants divided a double-header, the Cubs winning 3-2 and then losing 8-7.

Two games in the American league escaped rain in the Midwest. The Cleveland Indians enhanced their lead by whipping the Washington Senators 6-4, and the Detroit Tigers downed the Philadelphia Athletics 5-2.

Coalmen Edge Athletic Club

Tires, Tappans, and Town Taverns Also Connect.

Behind the four hit pitching of Brown the N. and E. Coal soft-balls squeezed the Athletic Supplies into submission 3-1 yesterday in one of four independent league tilts. The Mansfield Tires took isals into camp 9-7. Tappans out-tapped Humphries 10-7 and the Town Tavern overwhelmed Farm Tools 15-5.

The Coal Heavers scored in the first, third and fourth on the meagre offerings of Bush who held them to five hits. Parr led the Coalmen with two bingles out of four chances.

Baker led the Tires with two out of three, while Wentz got two out of four. Burnett had a perfect evening with isals, getting two for two.

McTye, Hoffman and Mabee were doing the tapping for Tappans with three out of five chances. Humphries' Cassel got three out of four and Kunz three out of five.

Gloris and Wilkins led the Tavern onslaught with three out of five while K. Windsor was charily giving the Farm Tools five hits. Davis got two out of four.

SPORTS GOSSIP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK — (The Special News Service)—Ducky Medwick's illness has been diagnosed as mumps and he won't make the western trip with the Dodgers. . . . Looking back on his victory in the open, Craig Wood decided he was proudest of one thing: He didn't have a single three-putt green in 72 holes. . . . and less than five years ago he was one of the poorest putters among the top-notch golf pros. . . . Bully Conn wanted to take in the Dodge game last night, after having some of the Pirates as guests at his camp, but Manager Johnny Ray nixed the idea. . . . Said the lights would be bad for Wilyum. . . . Old Honus Wagner now makes all road trips with the Pirates. Fans around the circuit put up a hoiler to see the Bucs' grand old coach.

WHAT NO SPLINTERS? Boss man Joe McCarthy kept the Yanks' Charley Keller on the bench for four days. . . . In four games since his reinstatement, King Kong has made seven hits, three of them homers, and driven in eight runs to challenge Rudy York for the lead with 46. . . . A lot of the experts think Ben Hogan will burn himself out prematurely, golf's lightweight long-hitter will give them a chance to see what sort of prophets they are by making every stop on the summer's tournament and exhibition program. . . . He won't even see his "home" club at Hershey, Pa. until August. . . . Ball players may be superstitious, but pitchers Mort Cooper of the Cardinals, Kirby Higbe of the Dodgers and Claude Passeau of the Cubs all wear No. 13 on their money-suits.

CONN-PTIONS Why Manager Johnny Ray is going crazy: The other day his boy Billy Conn and a sparring partner almost got pinched for shooting frogs on a lake near camp. . . . neighbors called the cops. . . . the next night Billy went to an amusement park to ride the roller-coaster. . . . and maybe that won't be the last one?

TODAY'S GUEST STAR — Lynn C. Doyle, Philadelphia Evening Bulletin: "The army has taken Zeke Bonura to its bosom, and that calls for a complete revision of the close-order drill."

BEGINS STUDY OF HOOKWORM

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP)—Malaria and hookworm—two of the South's most feared maladies—are joint targets of new research projects in the University of North Carolina's department of biological chemistry.

Dr. Harold W. Brown is studying the action of quinine in malaria cases complicated by hookworm and also conducting research on the metabolism of quinine and related compounds.

Dr. Brown hopes the research, sponsored by the Samuel S. Fels Fund of Philadelphia, may lead to a new and more effective method of treating the two diseases.

BEGINS TO REPAY

NEW YORK (AP)—About ten million dollars worth of tungsten and antimony arrived recently in the New York Foreign Exchange Zone, as part payment of China's debt to the U. S. The metal is said to have been submerged in Chinese rivers before shipment, to keep it from the hands of the Japanese.

ONE CENT TAX

GLENS FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—Among more than 200 payments made at the Glens Falls board of internal revenue offices by 1940 income taxpayers, was one of one cent, the smallest in history here. The penny was paid by Miss Charlotte H. Benware.

BROTHERS ARE UNITED BY WAR

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Misfortunes of war brought two brothers face to face for the first time in 30 years.

Ole R. Blindheim, a Seattle dairyman, had not seen his younger brother, Anton, since leaving the little Norwegian village of Aalsund to seek a living in the United States.

Anton came to this country through a quirk. He was chief engineer on a ship running the submarine blockade. Moving in a convoy, the vessel collided with another ship and returned to American shores for extensive repairs.

Anton wrote his brother, Ole, and replied: "Fly to Seattle and see me," Anton did.

AID PROGRAMS RISE TO WORRY QUAKER STATE

Dependent Children Receive
10 Million More Than
In 1935.

HARRISBURG, Pa.—(AP)—Industrial Pennsylvania, whose depression-bound industries put almost as many men on relief rolls as payrolls during the past decade, has found a new fiscal problem in study of last year's assistance rolls.

Coal mines, steel and concrete mills, iron foundries and heavy manufacturing plants are booming under the growing defense program, promising higher tax returns and more employment. Through most of last year, even before the boom, industry picked up, tax returns rose and relief declined, a cycle harassed Pennsylvania governors had been trying to bring about for 10 years.

Now a study of 1940 assistance costs shows that while direct relief expenditures fell nearly $31,000,000 during the year, costs of three minor relief programs rose astonishingly to a level of somewhat less than one-half the state's direct relief cost.

The unusual aspect of the increase was that it came in permanent programs—old age and blind pensions and children's aid—which probably will not decrease again with business improvement.

Indications that the state's complete relief picture is not so bright as direct relief expenditures indicate is to be found in the ever-increasing flow of federal money into the state's aid programs. The federal government poured $7,037,000 more relief money into the Commonwealth during 1940 than during 1937, both good industrial years.

How the state's minor-program costs have increased during the decade that saw Pennsylvania's governors struggle with the problem of relief financing is indicated by the blind pension and children's aid cost, the first entirely state financed, the second federal-state financed.

In 1935, blind pensions cost the state $1,330,000. In 1940, they cost $4,671,000 an increase of $3,291,000.

In 1935, aid to dependent children cost $1,739,000. Last year, the state paid as its share of a $16,589,000 children's bill, nearly six times as much as it did five years ago, or $10,177,000.

Some of the state's saving on direct relief was eaten up by the heavy increase in these minor programs. Direct relief cost $91,646,000 in 1939, and dropped $30,723,000 to $60,923,000, last year.

Meanwhile, Gov. Arthur H. James, who found the problem of relief financing as vexing in his first biennium, 1939-41, as any governor since the start of the depression, spoke of establishing a

Try these Ham and Cheese Puffs prepared the Spry FULL FLAVOR way

TASTE that zippy ham and cheese flavor sealed in a crispy golden crust. But make sure you get the FULL deliciousness. Fry with pure Spry—it doesn't "smother" flavor as ordinary shortenings may. Do all your baking and frying with Spry!

HAM AND CHEESE PUFFS
2 cups mashed 1 1/2 cups cooked ham, potato, finely diced
3/4 teaspoon salt 3/4 pound cheese, cut in 3/4 inch cubes
1 teaspoon mustard 1 cup cereal flakes (corn flakes)
Dash of pepper 1 egg, beaten
Combine potato, salt, mustard, pepper and egg and whip until very light. Add ham and cheese mixture around cheese cubes. Roll each ball in crushed cereal flakes. Fry in deep hot Spry (375° F.) 5 minutes or until brown. Test the fat (if you have no thermometer) with a pinch square of sliced bread and if it turns golden brown in 1 minute the temperature is right for frying. Drain on absorbent paper. Makes 12 puffs. REMEMBER: Spry is pure—does not smoke at correct frying temperatures. So do not wait for Spry to smoke before starting to fry.

AIDS ARMY

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—The 1915 Panama Pacific Exposition at San Francisco is doing its bit in the present national defense drive. The army, under provisions of the 1927 deed which thoughtfully provided such action in event of war or national emergency, has taken back the Palace of Fine Arts, sole remaining building of the old Fair. The army is turning it into a medical supply depot.

ASSERT OHIO HAS FIRST FULL SYSTEM FOR TROOP MOVEMENTS

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—The state highway patrol reports that Ohio is the first state to complete a system assuring speedy movement of troops over its roads.

The organization, dovetailing the patrol's manpower, traffic control and communications with those of local police in scores of cities, not only will give soldiers the right-of-way in crowded areas but will provide space and facilities for bivouacking.

A directory specifying every detail for operation over designated military highways has been prepared and maps specifying the best roads for troop use are in the hands of patrolmen and local police.

In event of extreme emergency, all civilian traffic can be directed from the military roads.

To avoid the heavy traffic of cities, the patrol has marked off by-pass routes. If the troops must go through the urban areas, police there will give them escorts.

Patrol Supt. Lynn Black, traffic liaison officer between the army and Ohio police, said the set-up would permit a regiment to travel across the state at least 23 miles an hour.

Height and load limit of bridges have been carefully checked and detailed on maps, particularly for the benefit of tank drivers. The patrol radio system can communicate with the army's mobile transmitters; even with airplanes.

Top earning ages for most people are between 38 and 40.

Big News! Rayon Experts Prove Super Suds, America's Washday Soap, Is "Rayon-Safe"

SUPER SUDS IS A WONDER FOR GETTING THE FAMILY WASH SHADES WHITER AND BRIGHTER...

...AND BECAUSE SUPER SUDS IS "RAYON-SAFE," I DON'T HAVE TO BUY AN EXTRA SOAP FOR MY NICE WASHABLE RAYONS

Now! One Washday Soap for Everything from Shirts to Washable Rayons, Smart Cottons!

OCEANS OF HOT-WATER SUDS to get Deep-Down Dirt out of grimy work clothes! Or beautiful, pure, safe, lukewarm suds for fine rayon fabrics. "Rayon-Safe" Super Suds gives both!

YES, AMERICA'S RAYON EXPERTS, the Better Fabrics Testing Bureau, and the United States Testing Co. have scores of tests proving Super Suds is "Rayon-Safe," used as directed below.

MAKES WASHINGS QUICKER, EASIER, CHEAPER, because here's one soap for everything! Soak family clothes in Super Suds, a few extra rubs on grimy spots, a quick rinse, and presto, Deep-Down Dirt speeds out of your grimey towels and play clothes, leaving everything shades whiter and brighter.

AND BECAUSE IT'S "RAYON-SAFE," you can rely on Super Suds to safely wash soil and perspiration out of washable rayons, nylons and other synthetic fabrics. Any color that's washable is safe in Super Suds.

QUICK SUDS FOR DISHES, with Super Suds. So rich and long lasting you don't have to keep adding soap. Dissolve grease so completely that dishes and glassware clean beautifully. And wonderfully easy on hands. Buy Super Suds in the big blue box today!

DIRECTIONS FOR WASHING RAYONS WITH "RAYON-SAFE" SUPER SUDS

1. Test a small patch in plain water for color-fastness. If color runs, it's not washable.
2. Wash rayons separately by hand in lukewarm suds. Pour warm water over Super Suds. Add cold water to get lukewarm suds.
3. Do not soak rayon. Wash quickly and gently. Do not rub, wring or twist.
4. Rinse thoroughly, gently, in clean, lukewarm water. Roll in towel, but don't leave there.
5. Use a moderate iron.

ATTENTION, WASH-DAY SNEEZERS! Every ounce of Super Suds is especially processed to remove sneezy soap dust.

The bigger drink with the better flavor!
